SEPTEMBER WEATHER.

Many Uncertainties and Weather Tells the Story.

What the month that a Roman emperor never corralled for his name will furnish the farmers this year is conjectural or speculative. The cottonwood is large and luxuriant but of the fruit there is devolving opinion. This editor dislikes to strike a discordant note; but he must confess the killing frost is as late as the crop.

The high temperatures that have prevailed so far this month may mean much or the reverse. Farmers must judge; we furnish them the figures for last year and the killing frost time, thanks to the ever acceding disposition of our good friend B. V. Zoeller who is as much alive to civic pride and all that goes to make up a good citizen as any in the land.

The highest temperature recorded for September 1909 was 87.5. This year we have exceeded that on more than one occasion, last Sunday as much as 2.5 and Tuesday 6.5.

The mean for the month is 71.5; so we will watch our friend's daily weather report.

Frost.

Equally interesting and of much importance is the frost period, which in the opinion of most farmers runs all the way from 25 to 20 per cent of a crop, as it is early or late this year it must be; for the crop is admittedly two weeks late.

Killing Frost Dates.

1904—October 16; 1905—October 13; 1906—October 11; 1907—October 15; 1908—November 1; 1909—October 14. The average date for these killing frosts is October 25.

But mark the damage done depends upon other weather conditions; such as were experienced in 1905. There were rain and freeze without frost and these killed or rotted all the immature bolls. A killing frost with the weather dry stops all growth and remaining dry the half grown bolls open.

All such may be factors in the crop that we are now about to gather. It may as Col. Zoeller suggests be interesting to note that the earliest killing frost was on Oct. 10.

Married.

In this place Wednesday evening by F. H. Pender J.P. Miss Amanda Spain to Rev. J. J. Wilson.

The bride is 45 and the groom 69 and blind; but very well preserved and is well to do farmer and business man of Wilson county.

Washing Money.

Can any one tell why it is necessary to have two men to run the street sprinkling water wagon? One follow sits on the wagon while another follow with a wrench to open the valves. Why cannot the driver do both the driving and the valve turning?

"It Looks Just Like New."

This was the expression of a lady when she called to get a brooch that she had left here for a new pin. The brooch was polished and refinished. The new pin was properly fitted and as she said it was really new again and the charge was only ten cents!

How many old pieces of jewelry have you got lying around that a few cents would make as good as new and put into service again? Collect some of this old jewelry and bring it down and get an estimate on the cost of fully repairing.

OUR WORK IS ABOVE COMPARISON. OUR SERVICE PROMPT AND REASONABLE.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause break downs. You can't over tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Vin de Sande, of Kirklind, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters. Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c. at W. H. Macnair's."

THE PHYSICIAN IN TURKEY.

Changing Customs in Harem Make His Work Much Easier.

The attitude of the harem to medical practitioners has changed much of recent years. Twenty or 30 years ago no Turkish woman would ever have submitted to a physical examination by a doctor. All he could have persuaded her to do would have been to show him her tongue through a rent in the yashmak, or let him touch her pulse from behind a heavy curtain and in the presence, of course of an approved eunuch or old female slave.

Any attempt to apply a stethoscope to the chest would have been spurned as an impertinent presumption of Western "barbarism." No matter how severe the illness, the medical man could not go beyond certain strict limits of Islamic usage and traditional custom. Even in cases of imminent danger to life these scanty limits were never allowed to be overstepped, and the belief in the incantations of a priest and the house remedies of old, ignorant and superstitious women held unlimited sway.

This is now changing and changing rapidly. There are, of course, still many exceptions where antiquated views and conceptions are fanatically adhered to and preserved, but these are becoming fewer with each advancing year. Many Turkish women will now, when ill, voluntarily call on a medical practitioner.

Old Folks Modern.

Every one is yet voicing praise for the Old Folks Concert on the evening of the 6th; but let no one imagine that those gracious and stately dames are back numbers. This fact is evidenced in the class song given below.

In the write up of the performance we gave the same names of the performers that appeared on the programme. They were felicitous nouns de theatre, but here are they as we know them:

Mrs. S. E. Speight; Mrs. P. S. Sugg; Miss Lucy Barlow; Mrs. Frank Hart; Mrs. E. W. Rawls; Mrs. W. A. Hart; Mrs. Frank Powell; Mrs. Don Williams; Mrs. T. E. Lewis; Mrs. H. T. Bass; Mrs. L. L. Staton; Margaret MacNair and Mrs. Marietta Howard.

Our Little Tar River Town.

Dear Tarboro; Dear Tarboro; Heaven's blessings attend her. While we live we will cherish, protect and defend her. Though the scorners may sneer and wailings debase her, Yet our hearts swell with gladness whenever we name her.

Chorus.

Hurrah; Hurrah; for Tarboro forever Hurrah; Hurrah our little Tar River town.

Just see our new graded school so grand and so stately, Education is our watch word and we've adopted it lately. Soon the hotel will be opened on this we are all united, We will have a gay festive time, for everybody's invited. Our streets are green with growing plants so large and so tall They will grow as luxuriantly till frost kills them this fall. When she graduates in hygiene with "The Civic League" for a teacher She will rank so high with the Health Board, no other town can reach her.

This town is progressive and claims what is right, We hope to have street cars and ride day and night. So three cheers for our Dixie Lees, they turned a mole hill to a mountain.

Definition of Automobile.

The word automobile has been defined as follows: Automobile: A large iron and rubber contrivance for converting gasoline into speed, luxury excitement and ostentation. It consists of a hand some leather upholstered carriage body mounted on a gizard full of machinery suffering from various ailments. It is the speediest and most stylish form of transportation known. It can transport seven people to the police station the bankruptcy court or the golden gate in less time than any other known method.

A Card.

The Daughters of the Confederacy wish to thank the public for their patronage at the concert and wish to announce that three rows of back seats were reserved for general admission at 25 cents each. Mr. Beatty experienced salesman was employed by the Committee. The sales of general admission tickets alone amounted to $28.20.

We hereby correct error, that all seats were sold as reserved seats and furthermore state that these seats were sold as advertised. We thank the ticket agents and ushers for their kindness. Respectfully, Chairman Concert Committee.

BROOKER T. WASHINGTON'S BIBLE STUDIES

THREE TEMPTING QUESTIONS. Matthew 22:15-22; 24-46—September 15.

"Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's."

THE Pharisees and Sadducees of our Lord's day were the leaders of religion. They had formed a trust or federation, so to speak, and rarely made an attack upon each other, although their doctrines were directly opposed. The Pharisees acknowledged God and the prophets and the Law, and believed in a future life by a resurrection from the dead, and believed in a coming Messiah to exalt their nation and through it to bless the world. The Sadducees believed nothing of the kind—they were agnostics. Higher Critics. They were making the best of the present life, doubting any future existence. The Pharisees opposed Jesus because he did not acknowledge them, but criticized them, and showed the hypocrisy of their claims to be perfect and holy as the keeping of the Law, and reproved them for their lack of sympathy with the poor and less pretentious.

The Sadducees opposed Jesus because, from their standpoint of unbelief, he was a fraud. But even as a fraud they would not have bothered themselves to oppose him, only that they perceived that he was gaining an influence with the people—an influence which they feared might, sooner or later, lead to some disturbance of the peace and unfavorably influence the conduct of the Roman Empire towards the Jews. So while the Sadducees and Pharisees both opposed Jesus, their opposition was for different reasons.

The triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem, and the crying of the multitude, "Hosanna to the Son of David," the Messiah, awakened envy in the minds of the Pharisees. But in the Sadducees it produced a fear that the common people should become so aroused as to involve their nation in some strife with the Empire. The Pharisees strove to turn away the sympathy of the people from the Great Teacher, and, to this end, sought to catch him in his words by putting the question, "Is it lawful to give tribute?"

They reasoned that if Jesus would say, "It is not lawful, they would have difficulty in having him arrested as a leader of sedition and thus compel Pilate to put him to death. They reasoned further that if Jesus should answer that it was lawful to give tribute to Caesar he would thereby alienate the sympathy of the multitude, which cried "Hosanna" after him; for the Jews held almost superstitiously, the idea that they, as God's Kingdom, must not pay tribute to any earthly Kingdom—that it would be irreverent to do so, excepting under compulsion. We notice how artfully they endeavored to ensnare the Master by complimenting him upon his truthfulness, saying, "Master, we know that thou art true." Not only so, but they sought to impress upon him their appreciation of him as a Teacher—that he would teach the light, the Truth, at any cost. And so they said, "Thou teachest the way of God in truth." And further, they fortified their position by saying, "We know that thou regardest not the person of man?"

These treacherous compliments were intended to ensnare him, but he promptly answered, "Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?" Why do you tell your base designs under guise of speaking for the Truth? "Show me the tribute money." This was a trap, normally, the census coin in which the tax was to be paid. They handed him a denarius, the usual wage for the day laborer, corresponding in value to about seventeen of our cents. Jesus asked, "Whose is this image and superscription?" They answered, "Caesar's," Jesus replied, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's." No wonder the wily Pharisees were troubled to know how to catch him in his words! On the contrary, they were caught; for all of their complimentary remarks slipped to his credit in the minds of the common people.

Next, the Sadducees, tried to entrap the Great Teacher by asking one of their stock questions. Seven different brothers in turn married the same woman and all died before she did. To which of them will she be wife in the resurrection? They did not ask, To which will she be wife in heaven or Purgatory or eternal torture, for neither Jesus nor the Jews held any such teaching. The Pharisees and Jesus taught the resurrection of the dead, and it was against this teaching that the Sadducees aimed their sarcastic questions.

Note the majesty of the Master's answer: "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures, neither the power of God?" You do not understand the Scriptures teaching respecting such questions, and you are ignoring in your question the great Divine power which, at that resurrection time, will be exercised and will straighten out all the difficulties of the situation. Then the Great Teacher proceeded to inform the great one of all. The Great Teacher promptly divided the ten commandments into two, according to the Law (Deut. 6:5), and answered, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind." This is the first and great (chief) commandment. And the second is like unto it—Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets." What could the Lawyer say to such a summation of the Law? He had nothing left to say. He was answered as never before.

The Great Teacher asked the Pharisees, "What think ye of the Messiah? Whose Son is he?" They answered, "The Son of David." The Teacher then queried, "How then doth David in spirit (prophetically) call him Lord, saying, 'The Lord said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand till I make thee enemies thy footstool?' If David then call him Lord, how is he his Son?" Of course the question was too deep for the Pharisees. The Great Teacher could answer all of their questions, but they could not answer his. How beautifully clear we see it to be that the Messiah, according to the flesh, was born of the lineage of David, but that God's purposes were not fully accomplished in Messiah of the flesh—that he lay down his flesh, sacrificially, and was raised from the dead to the plane of glory, honor and immortality, "far above angels, principalities and powers." We perceive that in the days of his flesh he was the Son of David, but that in his glorification he is David's Lord in that David will receive through him, in due time, not only resurrection from the dead, but also the blessings of participation in the Messianic Kingdom. The father of Messiah in the flesh will thus become the son of the Messiah of glory, whose earthly life is to be the restitution price for the whole world, including David. Thus it is written, "Instead of thy fathers shall be thy children, whom thou mayest make princes (rulers) in all the earth."—Psa. 45:16.

A LONG SEARCH.

Man Traces His Property from West Virginia to Tarboro.

Selken Hemond is a Syrian merchant in West Virginia. Several months ago he sent out peddling one of his complete sets, consisting of a wagon and harness, worth $120.00 in value, but only in the county in which the store was located.

Time passed and he heard nothing from Ameson. Finally he began a search. From place to place he traced his man till he reached Hogsdog, and there he learned that the horse, wagon, harness and some goods were sold to E. Sald of this place.

When he arrived here he found the wagon and harness in the possession of Sald, but the horse which had also been bought was not the horse that Ameson had when he left West Virginia. Ameson is said to have traded that with some one in Halifax County. Claim and delivery papers were sent out and will be heard Monday in the Recorder's court.

Hemond has come to Halifax to find if he can his horse. This Hemond's side of the case.

BETTER SIDE WALKS!

Mayor Jones Says He Will Enforce the Ordinances.

Mayor Jones has at last taken notice of the neglected conditions of our sidewalks and is sending out notices that are an appeal and an official notification that the ordinance will be enforced and that if the same are not put in proper condition in 15 days after notice the law will be enforced. The penalty is $25.00 and $5.00 for each day thereafter.

The requirements on lower Main street are different from those for the upper part, while the last are very much different for the walkways on other streets.

If rather strikes the law editor of the Southerner that these notices to the property owner what must be done to put the sidewalk in proper condition?

Cotton Lute.

The census report of cotton ginned to September first of the new crop shows that with the exception of Texas every state is far behind last year. Texas shows an increase of 90,000 bales; a decrease of over 100,000.

Darling Arg. only 4 bales were ginned in this state; last year there were 1,979.

The figures emphatically tell how important a little frost is to the farmer.

THE COLORED MAN

What Booker T. Washington Says of His Progress and Opportunities.

Practically all the fundamental conditions for industrial and business success are before the negro American, says Dr. Booker T. Washington and here I speak of prevailing conditions, not of the exceptions. He negro has a greater opportunity to get own or ship in the soil in this country as possibly in the southern States, than any 10,000,000 of people in the world who are in the same relative stage of civilization.

To the negro in business, especially in the southland, in the matter of freedom of trade there is a golden opportunity. While in other directions there are restrictions in the business world there is a freedom and an opportunity that has rarely come to any race so promptly out of slavery.

From the recorded progress that is being made in Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia where records are kept of negro property owning it is conservatively estimated that the negroes of the United States are adding from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 to their wealth each year, and that their total wealth is now not far from $600,000,000.

Besides using a very conservative figure I think it is safe to say that colored people in New York and Brooklyn own real estate valued at more than $2,000,000 and in addition to this have over $2,000,000 deposited in the banking institutions of Greater New York.
