Cotton Ginned.
The Census Bureau report shows that up to and including Oct. 17 there were 5,410,960 bales of cotton ginned. The number ginned for the same time last year was 5,530,967.

On last year's percentage of the cotton ginned to date we would have a crop of 10,500,000, the year previous 1908 one of 10,000,000.

Compared with 1908 there would be a crop of 14,900,000 bales.
The quantity of cotton ginned depends largely upon weather which this year has been favorable for both gathering and ginning; but against this has been the lateness of the season, this latter circumstance should be the indication of a crop somewhat larger than last year.

Well and Pertinently Said.
Editor Southern:
There is some apathy and some objection to some of the democratic nominees in the county; but I would ask such if they voted in the last election to help away our representation in the county convention or did they attend the township primaries in behalf of their favorite? If I have got half of my favorite I should support the ticket in order to get the other half.

University Notes.
Chapel Hill, Oct. 24. Wake Forest was easy for the university football eleven, Saturday being swamped 27-0. The back-field for Carolina was especially brilliant. Ruffin was the most consistent ground gainer and made several spectacular runs for thirty yards or more. Coach Brides used twenty six men in the course of the game, ending with an entire sub team and the ball on Wake Forest 10 yard line. Wake Forest did not make a first down.

A big, strong, whole-hearted mass meeting with 500 students in attendance was held in Oquawad Monday night for the purpose of letting the football team know, that in the face of the defeat by Davidson in Charlotte last Saturday, it still retained the confidence and loyalty of the student body. The speakers, among whom were Dr. Royster, and Reverend Hogue who had seen the game, seriously expressed confidence in the ability of the team to develop a strong scoring strength yet the opinion was given that the squad handicapped by superior weight had not yet found itself. The game in Georgetown next Saturday will give the players a chance to demonstrate the reality of their ability to "come back."

Reverend John Little of Louisville, Ky. gave an illustrated lecture, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night on the condition of the negro in the South. He described the poverty, disease, strike negro slums of Atlanta and Louisville and attributed to these conditions the low status of morality that exists in the race. He made a strong plea for the physical, industrial and moral uplift of the negro race in the South.

The Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society met Wednesday night for the purpose of electing officers. Professor Slacy was chosen president and Professors Dugget and Hall vice president and secretary and treasurer. The object of this society is to encourage scientific study and to record matters pertaining to the natural history of the state. The journal issued by the society is in a measure the bulletin of the laboratories of the University. It is now in its twenty sixth year. It exchanges with over 300 scientific periodicals and by this exchange more than ten thousand books and pamphlets have been collected for the University Library. Dr. W. C. Coker is editor in chief of the journal this year.—O. W. Hyman.

COMES INTO HIS OWN.

Once Despised Cottontail Gaining Rank Among Field Products.

Not one man in 10,000 has any idea of the great number of uses to which the once despised cottontail is now being put. From the clean soap obtained linters and mests and meat fattening feed for cattle that has yet been found. From the linters are gathered material for mattresses, felt, wads, paper, rope and a grade of underwear and likewise cellulose out of which gun cotton is made. The mests furnish oil and meat, the oil after refining being now universally used in the kitchens of this and other countries.

Before refinement to the edible stage, the oil is known under many names, such as salad oil, stearine, winter oil and white oil, oleomargarine being the product of stearine. The white oil is the chief ingredient in compound lards. The original oil, also known as soap stock, has fatty acids used in the manufacture of soap, roofing tar, paints and glycerine, and from this comes the explosive nitroglycerine.

The meal made from its use as cat feed powder, is transformed into bread, cake, crackers and even candy. Last of all comes the doctors, who are saying, that this wonderful seed is a boon to the sick, since from its oils an emulsion is prepared that has been known to be of value in tuberculosis and other ailments.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. This tube is inflamed when you have a running sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; also cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for Constipation.

A Novel Way to Raise Money.
To raise a considerable amount of money with very little trouble is to form a Story Chain, for a winter says Martha London in Women's Home Companion for November.
"A group of ten women meet at the home of one afternoon and one reads aloud a story, something worth its telling to, like The Toy Shop or The Man Without a Country or any of the best short stories; then tea is served and perhaps there is a little music. Each person present pays an admission fee of twenty-five cents. In turn each of the ten guests give a similar tea at her home and the same programme is followed and each of these guests give a tea; when this has been done three or four times, the "chain" comes to an end, but the treasury is filled."

HAPPY RESULTS.
Have Made Many Tarboro Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Tarboro citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Tarboro by Doan's Kidney Pills.
Mrs. J. W. Wallace, 1130 Albermarle St., Tarboro, N. C., says:
"Doan's Kidney Pills benefited me greatly and I am therefore pleased to recommend them. I suffered constantly from dull, nagging backaches and distressing pains across my loins. I was very restless at night and rose in the morning feeling tired and languid. I had but little strength or energy and could hardly attend to my housework. If I stooped or attempted to lift, sharp, darting pains caught me in my back. My kidneys were weak and caused me considerable annoyance. I finally read about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at Cook's Drug Store. I began their use. They removed my backache and regulated the passage of the kidney secretions. I now feel better in every way."

FEAR OF THE HOSPITAL.

Its Unreasonableness Set Forth by A Doctor.

In cities and large towns the hospital is now generally recognized as a useful public institution, the natural place of resort in severe illness or in case an operation is to be performed. It is understood that care better than what could be given to the patient at his own home. Yet beyond the radius of influence of one of these modern houses of rest and cure, the old unreasonable fear of the hospital still remains—a relic of the days when limbs were amputated without anesthetics and unsanitary surroundings. Moreover it is often felt that to be sent to hospital is in some degree a disgrace. The causes of this feeling and the remedies for it were recently discussed by Dr. A. H. Thayer, in a paper before the Albany County (N. Y.) Medical Society. We quote from a reprint in the International Hospital Record of Detroit. Says Dr. Thayer:

"The question naturally arises is this fear a reasonable one or does it come from the fact that when a patient from any of the small villages goes to a hospital it is the talk of the town. Should that patient die while in the hospital every one in the village knows about and talks about it much more than they would had he died in his own home. He died in the hospital! The question does not occur to them, did he undergo an operation, or did he die of some condition that had already progressed so far that no operation could be performed? The fact to them is, 'He was taken to the hospital and died there, and I am not going there to die.' The same thought is many times expressed as follows: 'They took him to the hospital and operated on him and that killed him.' Of course, it is considered that the operation was the direct cause of death even in the case of an inoperable carcinoma in which an exploratory was done without perceptible effect on the patient's strength and it was the original disease that eventually caused the death.

This is an argument against doing ever so slight an operation on a hopeless case. If the patient dies other people hear of it and fear a necessary operation, no matter how simple it may be or how free from danger. In the minds of the public all operations are serious and most patients are supposed to die who undergo them.
"Among city people who are frequently about the hospital, there is much less fear of an operation. They see the 93 cases that regain their health as well as hear of the one that died.
"Is the time ever coming when the public will know that it is seldom the operation of itself causes death? The cause of most cases of death is the fact that the disease has been allowed to progress to far before they will consent to an operation. Had the operation not been delayed because of needless fear until the patient or his friends could see that the patient would surely die unless operated upon, then operations could be performed with much better prospects of the patient's regaining perfect health."
From an examination of the records of his own hospital, which he believes well represents the average, Dr. Thayer finds that the mortality rate following operation is low—not higher than five per cent. The fear of the hospital on this score is therefore not justified and it should be remembered that if all the hospital operations had been performed at the patients' homes without hospital facilities and hospital comforts the mortality would undoubtedly have been far greater.—Literary Digest.

HAVE YOU BEEN TO NORFOLK?
Several months ago a gentleman of Tarboro came to the store and told me that about one year before he went to Norfolk to have his eyes examined, and the optician that he bought there did not suit him at all. The water in his eyes and found that he had Xero, so he had him with a pair of minus lenses. He wore them for three months and was so well pleased with them that he came to me and gave me an order for another pair just like the first one as he said he was afraid he might lose or lose them. Drop in. I can suit you, too, and will also tell you the gentleman's name. He will tell you to have your eyes examined by W. L. Bell
