BUTLER'S INFAMY

He Is Interested In Fraudulent Bonds.

HOW HE HOPES TO COLLECT THEM. Tom Settle and other republican speakers have declared the talk about Mary Ann Butler and the special tax bonds a bug bear. Butler's Connection Proved. Read this advertisement which appeared in the New York Evening Post April 1905.

The Collection of State Bonds Redemptions in Whole Or in Part. The recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States entitled "South Dakota North Carolina wherein the former State secured a judgment against the latter on ten bonds, par value $10,000, amounting with interest to $27,400 (which has just been paid) has greatly enhanced the value of all our repudiated State bonds, because it has established the law and the procedure by which they can be enforced.

The undersigned committee in 1901 pooled all of one issue of North Carolina bonds and originated the plan by which the above successful results were brought about and obtained a settlement for the individual bondholders at a little less than par, of the entire holdings of these bonds.

This committee is now ready to proceed with the collection of all other repudiated bonds of every class of each State. This committee has no connection with any other committee, and it knows that it alone is now in a position to avail itself of the benefits of the above mentioned decision.

Those who desire to enforce the collection of their bonds will deposit the same with the North American Trust Company, 195 Broadway New York City, and receive receipts therefor and a contract agreement under which the undersigned committee will undertake to collect the same.

W. N. COLLIER & CO. R. F. PITTGREW. D. L. RUSSELL. MARION BUTLER. Depository.

North American Trust Co. Wheeler H. Peckham, Counsel. When this advertisement was published Butler and his gang expected to give to South Dakota or some other state some special tax bonds that the State of North Carolina might be sued and the validity of such bonds established.

Bear in mind that a citizen cannot sue a state but a state can sue another state. Butler's Latest. But state after state refused to pull Butler's chestnut out of the fire so he devised another scheme. Knowing the venality of the republican party, he realized that it would be cheaper to purchase the republicans of this State than to make presents to states as an inducement to sue.

Butler's Plan. All that money and lying could do was to be used to elect a republican legislature. And that legislature was to recognize the validity of these special tax bonds and instruct the State Auditor to issue warrants for their payment.

Of course the auditor being a Democrat would do nothing of the kind, claiming that the people had repudiated these bonds, they could not be paid unless by a vote of the people.

Then Butler was to ask for a writ of mandamus requiring the auditor to obey the mandate of the legislature of the state and expected to deny this writ and from this refusal Butler is to take an appeal to the United States Court, where the validity of these bonds will be tested. In ascertaining the duty of an officer who had refused to obey the legislation who had refused to obey the legislation that had ordered the payments of these bonds and had declared that the constitutional amendment forbidding their payment was expost facto and impaired the obligations of a contract.

Mary Ann Butler is as dirty a scoundrel as walks the earth but he is not a fool any more than his prototype, the Devil.

One Little Fight. Monday morning brought no grist to the Recorders Mill and only one petty case to Squire Pender. Bessie Lloyd for assaulting another colored lady, Annie Johnson. A penny and cost that was all she had of "too much Johnson."

Turn backward, O time in your flight; Make me a child again just for tonight. "I'll do it cried Time, just let me be Until I fix some Rocky Mountain Tea." Edgecombe Drug Co.

"Better put that hammock up a little higher," said the woman. "No," replied the man; "It's high enough. If I want to fall any further I will get in an aeroplane." Yonkers Stevedeam.

FARMER'S INSTITUTE.

An Invitation to Our People to Meet the Requirements.

Last winter the Southerner to encourage boys on the farm and especially in growing corn which provided the largest part of the boys and hominy contentment was able, thanks to the public spirit of many citizens to offer a prize of $100 for the largest yield on one acre cultivated by a boy between 12 and 17. A second prize of $60 and a third of $40.

The good people in a number of townships added prizes for boys in their townships so there is offered $400 in prizes through the Southern Farmer's Institute.

As soon as the Southerner had these prizes well announced it asked the State Department of Agriculture to have an institute here on Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving day.

The Department has met us more than half way as will be seen by the following letter. Mr. Frank Powell, Tarboro, N. C.

Dear Sir: Again referring to the institute to be held in Tarboro Nov. 25 and 26, will say I am expecting the following to go with me: Franklin Sherman, Entomologist State Dep. Agriculture, Mr. C. R. Hudson, State Demonstrator under Dr. S. A. Knapp, J. L. Burgess, Agronomist, State Department of Agriculture, I. O. Schaub, West Raleigh, N. C., Mrs. W. N. Host, Mrs. Chas Mc Kimmon.

In this connection will say it would add to the interest of the occasion if you would get your farmers to bring out small exhibits of their farm products and tastefully display them on these days. This would create quite an interest in the meeting especially if some prizes were offered for the best ears of corn, the best stalk of cotton the best bushel of peas, etc.

Yours very truly, T. B. Parker. Our good friend J. F. Shackelford has tendered one of his warehouses where the display of corn can be made.

This is about as far as the Southerner can go. The looking after the people who will attend belongs to others.

The Southerner will ask the Civic League to take care of the ladies attending and the boys, and it knows these good women sufficiently to give itself no further concern. But as to the others, the farmers attending that is up to the local farmers and our business men. The occasion is such and the talent that will be here is such that each and all should put the best foot foremost.

The Southerner has no doubt that for the next year or the years coming it can offer the same or larger prizes if desirable and it proposes to pre-empt the two days following Thanksgiving for an institute that will be for the good of both farmer and his wife and also of us.

Just now it is asking the people of Tarboro and this township to help make this institute for this year such a success that the future ones will be looked forward to with eagerness and delight.

Of one fact let all be assured; There will be two days of a Farmer's Institute that will be the equal of any held in the State. The Southerner guarantees this and now invites its friends to accentuate the hospitality and the amenities of the occasion.

Our Duty To The Living. How often we see the living slighted and neglected, through a long hard life never cheered by one word of praise or one caress, and when they are still and silent, no longer hearing or heeding, then the words caresses, and tears are not sinned, which during life would have been welcome, helping them over many rough places.

People kiss the dead who never kiss the living. They hover over open coffins with hysterical sobs, but fall to throw their arms about their loved ones who are fighting the stern battle of life. A word of cheer to the living, to a struggling soul in life is worth all the roses of Christendom pitted high on cedar covers. The dead cannot smell the flowers but the living can. Scatter them broadcast in their pathway, therefore open and pick out the thorns before it is too late.

When it is too late how many unavailing regrets it would save us to know that while they were with us we had loved them well, and did not let them know how very dear they were to us.

"I'm the thing you do dear; It's the thing you've left undone, Which gives you a bit of heart ache." At the setting of the sun, The tender word forgotten, The letter you did not write, The flowers you might have sent dear, Are your haunting ghost tonight.

"The last time you were drunk you promised me you would never get drunk again."

"The saint again, m'dear; think I'm yet." - Houston Post.

THE COMMISSIONERS PLAN.

The Experience of a Kansas Town After Six Months.

Kookak, in after six months of commission government, reports that the citizens are practically unanimous in their approval of the new rule. And here are some of the reasons.

When the commission plan took effect the commissioners found a depleted treasury and a floating indebtedness of 20 per cent of the entire annual revenue of the city. After six months of administration under a business system the city is now operating on a cash basis and the bonded indebtedness has been reduced by $39,000.

More than double the amount of street improvement made in the six corresponding months of last year has been made this year. The treasurer's books last Saturday night showed that for less than one-third the results accomplished in the street department this year the city paid last year $14,000 as against $11,500 this year.

Last year and the year before the city collected less than $150 in dog licenses. In six months the new rule has collected $1350 in that fund. The city owns 20 acres of ground along the river from which it rents to business firms. In a number of cases this rent was not paid. Some of it has not been paid in five years. Now the rents have all been paid to date.

The municipal court in the first six months of last year collected in fines $171.58 for the first six months of the new rule the collections were $572.55.

I have been the custom of former councils to borrow from $3,000 to $20,000 to "carry the city over" from the beginning of the council year to the end. This year the commissioners did not borrow. Instead of paying interest they managed to keep a cash balance in the city depository on which the city has realized interest to the amount of $217.79.

Simple isn't it? Just the application of plain business methods to municipal affairs. Every city under the new rule gets the results that Kookak has accomplished—and in addition they get good government every day in the year. -Kansas City Star.

A Little Friendly Advice. There are several "don'ts" which should be observed whenever two or more women are gathered together, but which also, are frequently disregarded. For instance, don't say to a friend "How stout you are growing." No lady likes to be told that she is growing or has grown stout. If it is a fact she is doubtful quite well aware of it and anxious to keep others from discovering it. Don't say "How well you are looking." It is better to make no remark on the personal appearance of your friend.

Don't tell a friend who has a particularly becoming gown or bonnet that she looks ten years younger in that than in anything you have ever seen her wear. Don't tell her other that it is the most becoming you have ever seen her wear. This is an impeachment of her taste heretofore, though you probably have no such thought.

Two Ways of Thinking. Two farmers met the other day. Said Farmer No. 1: "No, I am not going to the Institute I went two years ago and they told me to cultivate my corn shallow, and I tried it and it didn't make half a crop." "On the other hand, replied Farmer No. 2: "I haven't been cultivating my corn shallow and I can show you on my farm ridge-furrow corn that won't make twenty bushels to the acre while level cultivated will make sixty." Farmer No. 1 was one who jumped at conclusions, regardless of peculiar circumstances that may or may not make a first trial a success while Farmer No. 2 tries out a thing and learns to do it the right way. -Raleigh, Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Some Good Crops. Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather which prevailed when the farmers believed was the critical time with their crops this year will be some good crop made in this county.

Especially come in of many making more than they expected. One farmer just told the reporter of having picked out ten acres. At the third picking over 600 pounds to the acre. This does not mean that he was making as large a harvest at the first previous pickings; not at all. The first picking did not pan out 100 pounds to the acre; but he is expecting to make a bale to each acre.

Bob Pitt in the St. Lewis section is probably going to hear of the honors. He has 25 acres from which he has already picked and packed 36 bales and expects 25 more.

Now Bob Pitt is not the only farmer in the county; but who can touch him?

It is a good old county we have, friends, and its generous soil deserves recognition.

Let us hear from all and let us see from all at the Institute following Thanksgiving day.

TAXING THE KITCHEN.

What the Tarboro Does to the American Grocer.

The bride and groom next door are beginning to keep house. They have been shopping for the outfit for the kitchen. And the Payne Tariff Tax law schedules cover all phases of such an event.

The stove is tariff-taxed 45 per cent. The frying pan 45 per cent. The pudding tin 40 percent the kettle 40 per cent, the coffee-pot 40 per cent, the baking-pot 40 per cent the colander 40 per cent the flour sifter 40 per cent the iron spoons 40 per cent, the griddle 40 per cent and the egg beater 40 per cent.

They like coffee so the waffle irons are taxed 40 per cent also. Then there are the pale-wooden palis tariff-taxed 35 per cent and a Fibre pall also 35 per cent.

The kitchen knives and forks are cheap, serviceable affairs and are tariff-taxed from a penny apiece and 15 cents additional on 'up. But the Tariff Tax law provides that they must never be less than a duty of 40 per cent.

The bread-and cake box is tariff-taxed 45 per cent. The flour-box 45 per cent and likewise 45 per cent on the little boxes that hold the spices and the little things of the kitchen.

The chopping bowl is tariff-taxed 25 per cent and in addition one-third the refrigerator is tariff-taxed 35 per cent and the hamper 50 per cent. The ironing-board is protected by a 35 per cent tariff, the irons by a tax of eight tenths of a penny a pound and the zinc sheet for the kitchen table-top and five-eighths of a penny a pound.

An earthen crock is tariff-taxed 60 per cent. The dish towels are not less than 30 per cent, probably more, but the law says they must not be less.

The shavers for the shaving stands, one cent for twenty-five shavers. Nothing is so small for the tariff-taxer's oversight.

An earthen jug is tariff-taxed 25 per cent, the same rate as for the ceramic dishes that figure in the more elaborate kitchens.

The kitchen is tariff-taxed 35 per cent, with separate tax for the handle and attachment.

The office on the floor is tariff-taxed 6 cents a square yard and in addition 15 per cent. And the kitchen upon that all the young bride-voles on townships all of the above is tariff-taxed 25 per cent -New York World.

Rotation in Office Wise And Unwise.

The principal of rotation in office was one very earnestly advocated by Thomas Jefferson, and it is interesting to see that his opinions on the subject are now being quoted with approval in many parts of the territory. There is no doubt that the principle of rotation is wise and beneficial, but there are one or two modifying facts which our voters should keep in mind.

In the first place a very sharp distinction should be made between the offices in which merely routine work is done, such as those of Sheriff, Treasurer, Register of Deeds, Assessor, Secretary of State, etc. on one hand and on the other hand of those requiring a high degree of constructive ability and technical skill, such as Commissioner of Agriculture, Superintendent of Education, Supervisor of Roads, Health Commissioner, etc. Formerly most offices of this class were certainly important, but a distinction to be made between the two types. Of course no inefficient man ought to be kept in any office because he is supposed to have had experience in it, but we hope our Progressive Farmer readers will see to it that the wise principle of rotation is not carried to undue extremes. Dr. S. C. Mitchell, of the University of South Carolina, declared the other day that while it was originally said that there were three departments of government, legislative, executive, judicial, and educational in the executive offices, the mere rotation of political and financial machinery is well to have rotation, but when a really able man has been found for the management of the schools, the roads, public health work or agricultural development there is no more reason for making frequent changes than there is for changing the professors in the State University.

In short let us have no such rotation as the people wish in the executive offices, but less in legislative offices where influence comes with experience; still less in judicial offices, and least of all, perhaps, in the educational offices, provided in such case that the officer be a really able man who is doing his work well. -Raleigh Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Setting on Elections. Betting in New York is 3 to 1 on Dix in large amounts, and 5 to 3 in smaller sums. The largest wager so far reported is $1,500 on Dix to $750 on Stinson. Tamm's W. Lawson of Boston, says a cheat of his has $75,000 to $100,000 to bet on Foss on even terms. Even money in large sums on the Democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts is not a usual thing; it is significant of the present situation of the Republican party. Another brokerage house of $75,000 on Foss at even money. On the Boston Stock Exchange several wagers have been made with odds of 4 to 3 on Draper. Small odds on the Republican candidate in thalys bets are sufficiently indicative that things are different from what they were once. -Philadelphia Record.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES. A Woman Cures All Her Aches and Pains. Tarboro women know how the ache and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the wealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders.

Can Tarboro sufferers desire stronger proof than this woman's words? Mrs. C. E. Boyette, Thirteenth St. Scotland Neck, N. C. says: For some time I suffered severely from sharp pains through the small of my back and there was a soreness across my kidneys. I was hardly able to get around and if I stooped or lifted sharp pains caught me through my loins. I also suffered from muscular rheumatism and my kidneys were so weak as to cause my annoyance. I at length used Doan's Kidney Pills and the relief I received was most gratifying. The backache ceased and my kidneys were restored to their normal condition. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to any other kidney sufferers, as I am convinced that they live up to representation.
