OR various reasons many Pible

students understand that our Lord referred to the Jewish nation under the symbolism of a fig-tree. He had been telling his disciples what might be expected in the end of this age, when he would come again to re-ceive his faithful to himself and to give them a place as his Bride upon his Throne and to establish his Kingdom under the whole beavens for the blessing of Israel and all the world through Israel. In this study he tells us that amongst the prominent signs of the closing of this age and the opening of the new will be the budding of the fig tree-the springing forth of new life and lew hope in the Jewish nation. And is not this condition of things manifesting Itself teday? Behold the Jews awakening and listening to the voice of Moses and the Prophets calling them to Palestine and to fresh hope in God and in the glorious promises to which they still are heirs as the natural seed of Abraham! "For the gifts and calling of God are things he does not repent of" (Romans "This Generation Shall Not Pass" signs promised in the verses preceding our lesson and which witnesses this surance in the country and absolute | putting forth of the green leaves of hope by Israel will see to the full the accomplishment of the glorious change of Dispensation so long forefold. They will witness the passing of the reign of the Prince of Darkness and the inauguration of the glorious reign of the Prince of Light-Messiah with his glorious Bride class; not, however, that mankind will see Messiah with the natural eyes, nor see even his giorious ride, except with the eyes of their understanding. "Flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God" in this highest sense. Flesh and blood. however, will see Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and all the Prophets in the King-dom, and will have full testimony and practical demonstration of the Kingdom power in the great transformation that will be wrought and the restitution blessings which will be showered upon Israel and upon all who will come into harmony with God through Israel's New Covenant (Jeremiah xxxi,

The present ecclesiastical heavens and the present social earth will, indeed, both pass away in the great time of trouble with which this age will end; but following these, supplanting them, will come the new heavens and the new earth-the new religious institutions of the Lord-the Church in glory, and the new social order amongst mankind under the regulations for which we still pray, "Thy ning January 1st, 1911, that tract of Kingdom come; thy will be done on land starte about three miles from earth." the Father alone. This should not, however, be understood to mean that the Son of God would not know about the matter later on, in due time, before he would begin his work of establishing the Kingdom, Neither would it prove that the angels of heaven would be in ignorance up to the last moment. Neither would it prove that God's people, living at the time for the establishment of the Kingdom, would not know. In fact, proper harmony with him would be kept informed respecting the Father's Plans as they became due. He declared that if they would partake of the things of God and follow after them, that then they should have meat

Watch That Ye May Know Following these illustrations of his presence and his work in the harvest for his presence, that they may, in due time, discern his presence and that they may be gathered or separated from the world and theological relationship, and from earthly church relationship, to the Master birself. Some very earnest Bible students believe that we are in this harvest period now; that the Son of Man, the glorified Messiah, invisible to men, is even now present doing a searching and separating work in its Church, gathering his saints unto himself preparatory to their change from earthly to heavenly conditions and preparatory to the inauguration of the great time of trouble, by which present in stitutions will be blotted out to make way for the Kingdom of righteousness. for which we have so long prayed. Many Bible students believe that the present unrest and sifting and shaking amongst Christians and the creeds of all denominations and the colleges and seminaries are but incidental to this work which the Son of Man, present amongst us, is accomplishing for the purpose of fully separating to himself his very elect. Whether this proposition be agreed to or not, the fact
