Railroad Trestle On Fire

The Fall Creek trestle on the Southern Railroad between Tryon and Saluda caught on fire, presumably from hot coals from the engine ash box, yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The fire was eating into the trestle cross ties when seen by Miller King, colored, who immediately told Mr. W. W. Capps. Mr. Rob Capps rushed to the depot and notified local railway officials who promptly put out the flames and thus avoided a serious wreck. Local officials stated that the railroad company deeply appreciated the splendid spirit shown by Messrs. Capps, and Miller King.

Rev. Jenkins, Kiwanis Speaker

Rev. E. B. Jenkins, of Rutherfordton, world traveller and chautauqua lecturer, spoke at the Tryon Kiwanis meeting today noon at Mimosa Inn. His subject was the "Future Peril of America" which he believed is the spreading propaganda of Communism sent out by the Soviet government from Russia. This influence is permeating our industries, schools, colleges and other public organizations to the detriment of our ideals and business. Mr. Jenkins is now conducting a revival at the Mill Spring Baptist church.
