$15,000 Fire at Saluda

Spartanburg Herald

Saluda, N. C., April 24. Fire of undetermined origin early this morning destroyed the Melrose Inn, 35 room hostelry here. The loss was estimated at $15,000. The Inn was built 35 years ago, and when burned was being operated by Misses Lillian and Addie Heriot. No guests were in the hotel when it was destroyed.

Tryon Operetta Tonight

The Mother Goose Operetta will be presented by the Tryon School primary department tonight at the School auditorium. 10 cents will be charged all those not in the primary grades. This small charge is made to cover some incidental expenses.

"The children of the Shoe being difficult to manage by the Old Woman, she phones The-Man-in-the Moon for advice. During her conversation, the children are planning a surprise for her. They appear dressed as Mother Goose children. Later, the real mother Goose Children all the way from Mother Goose Land visit them.

Spartanburg Editorial Says:

"When the Laurel is in bloom is the time the mountain country should open its doors and invite the world to behold the scene. The mountain laurel is the only shrub that withstand the hardship of the region, hastens to cover the scar of fire, shield the wounds of flood and slides and grows in a soil that is unproductive of other forms of vegetation.

"When the laurel is in bloom this year, dont fail to spend a whole day in the mountains. It is a year between such shows." Spebg. Herald

Men and Whiskey Taken

Three Negro men and about 50 gallons of whiskey were captured this morning near the ice plant by officers W.Y.Wilkins, J.C.Walker, W.D.Hines and Lit Durham. Last night at Melrose three other negro men and seven and a half gallons of liquor were caught.
