Fight Over Horse Racing

When news leaked out that the legislature was about to pass a bill legalizing horse racing in Polk county a protest was raised. Dr. John Brittan Clark and the Rev. C.P. Burnett are in Raleigh today to enter the protests of several organizations. Opponents claim the law would bring here a lot of gamblers and undesirable citizens. Those wanting the law claim it will bring more money here. Do you want that kind of money?

College Flapper Tonight

A thousand laughs will fill the school auditorium tonight when the curtain raises on the first presentation of the College Flapper presented by the American legion.

3 More Stores Robbed

Burglars again entered the M. A. Pace Store at Saluda Tuesday night and stole some merchandise including some which had been recovered from a previous robbery. The first robbery was made several weeks ago, the second Monday night and the third Tuesday night at which time Sonner's store and the drug store were also entered.

Small Fire at Lynn

The Fire department was called to Lynn this morning, to a small fire at the Cochran home, but the flames were put out in a few minutes

Six Stoves Sold

The Electric Rage campaign is starting off with full speed. Six stoves have already been sold by the Southern Public Utilities Co.
