
The Bulletin is still being traded for farm products.

Entered as second-class mail matter August 20, at the Post Office at Tryon, N. C.
under the Act of Congress, March 3, 1879

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

Vol. 4 TRYON, N.C. WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1931. Est. 1-31-28

Parsons Funeral Thursday

Funeral services for Dr. Willis E. Parsons will be held Thursday at 4 p.m. at the Erskine Memorial church. Dr. John Brittan Clark officiating.

Halloween Party Friday

Tryon Graded school is preparing for a big Halloween party Friday night at the school auditorium. Ripples of laughter will fill the air when the funny-cute costumes and various stunts are seen. A good time is in store for all.

News Gleanings

Gosh, isn't it smoky? My little girl wants to know which is worse "gosh" or "squash." Is Tryon musical or is it colds that're making so many people blow in handkerchiefs? Wm. R. McDowell, Tryon lover, of Detroit, but now of Charlotte, sends us an Underwood Adv. pamphlet by Eddie Cantor signed "love and kisses." We have read it so please overlook the jesting. A & P is celebrating its 72nd Anniversary. One of their oldest customers lives in Tryon, Mr. T. H. Coggey, 80 years old, when a little boy used to go with his father to the first store in New York 72 years ago. He still trades with them in Tryon. My, how old man Henderson would pity him for being cheated so long.

It Rained Today

The best news to local people was the slow, steady, rain which began falling this afternoon.

The Bulletin One Year $1.50