

Entered as second-class mail matter August 20, at the Post Office at Tryon, N. C.
under the Act of Congress, March 3, 1879

---

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

---

Vol. 4 TRYON, N.C. TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1932. Est. 1-31-28

---

No News Today

It's cloudy and gloomy, sorter rainy. Think I'd better go hear Will Rogers again tonight and laugh some more. You remember a joke book was one of Abraham Lincoln's remedies for mental depression. It's cheaper and more effective than whiskey. The new theater is a valuable asset for Tryon if you use it right. Carroll Roger's, no kin to Will Rogers, gave his life story today at Kiwanis. This is required of every member. Like Oliver Wendell Holmes who believes the training of a child should begin 100 years before he is born, Mr. Rogers began his story 100 years ago when his grandfather came South as a Connecticut Yankee, but cast his lot with the Confederacy in the Civil War. The speaker began his interesting life as the son of a Methodist minister. After college he took up textile work and while an executive met a girl from Tryon, and that's why he lives here now. Mr. Joe Price, the Blacksmith brings in a stalk of oats nearly three feet long. Unusual for this time of year.

At Episcopal Church

Wednesday--Feast of the Epiphany, Holy Communion at Episcopal church. 10 a. m.

Today's News Headlines

Thousands in Mississippi flood area need supplies. Japan apologies for attack on envoy. Congress to act quick on relief plans. Democrats favor sales tax. Hoover opposes cut in federal wages. Gov. Murray of Oklahoma to be candidate for president.

---

The Tryon Daily Bulletin, the world's smallest daily newspaper, which is edited by Seth M. Vining. All type is set by hand after the ancient fashion of the B. L. "Before Linotype" days. Spartanburg Herald Spotlight.

---

Rain tonight and Wednesday. Warmer tonight. Colder Wednesday night.

---

Bulletin $1.50 a Year

---