Dr. Keller Comments

In this column we will publish for a few weeks a daily comment by Dr. Lewis H. Keller, a summer resident of Tryon.

Los Angeles has a school for elderly people. It re-educates them in the divine art of spending life's last and best years. This kind of education is needed. It will do good and spread. Tryon has some glorious oldsters, beyond seventy, facing "the golden West." Why not this most interesting of all groups here form a school, meet once a week for a conference. Lots to talk about, lots to enjoy. If you will be one of twenty-five for such a school, see or phone editor Vining. Tryon should lead.
