

Tryon's Big Show

The big little town of Tryon announces that plans are complete for the 10th annual Horse and Hound Show sponsored by the Tryon Riding & Hunt club. Wednesday, April 17, is the day set for the festivities and fine horses and dogs from several states will come to vie with those owned by Tryon residents. The list of entries includes horses from as far South as Palm Beach and as far North as Virginia. Fort Benning, Ga., seat of the Infantry School of the United States army, will contribute horses, riders and other visitors.

Many residents of Spartanburg have attended the Horse and Dog Show at the foot of Hogback and other mountain peaks in past years and no doubt the attendance from this city, weather permitting, will be larger this year than in previous years. Tryon is a town worth visiting any day in the year. It is especially so when it prepares to entertain.—Spartanburg Herald.
