The Scouts

The Tryon Boy Scouts who have made such good records in Scouting owe much of their inspiration and training to Scoutmaster W. A. Schilleter and the Rev. C. P. Burnett who have had more personal contacts with the troops as a whole. A number of business men have assisted the Scouts in coaching them for their merit badge achievements. Dr. W. A. Sutton of Atlanta, Ga., formerly head of the American Education Association, states that he values more highly every merit badge a Boy Scout earns than he does a unit in high school education, for what a boy learns and does of his own accord becomes a part of himself and fits him for a useful life. A campaign is now on to raise $1,000 to promote Boy Scout work in the Piedmont district.
