A lot of fun has been made of the government's alphabetical agencies such as the NRA, AAA, FERA, etcetera. The letters that puzzled me when I was a boy reading signs on the street were B. P. O. E., A. F. & A. M., I. O. O. F., W. O. W., W. C. T. U., J. O. U. A. M., G.O.P., D. A. R., U. D. C., F. O. B., and all the letters on box cars representing the various railroads of the country. When the Titanic went down S. O. S., impressed me. The letters that worry me most now are C. O. D.

Green-Thompson

Mr. and Mrs. James Terrell Green of Tryon, North Carolina, announce the marriage of their daughter, Molly Ruth, to Mr. Ernest Linwood Thompson, Jr., of Richmond, Va., and Washington, D. C. Mr. Thompson is the son of Mrs. E. Linwood Thompson and the late Mr. E. Linwood Thompson of Richmond. The wedding took place at the Methodist Episcopal church in Weldon N. C., on May 20th. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left for a Northern wedding trip. They will be at home after June the first at 2209 West Grace Street., Richmond, Va.

A Tryon Sun Rise

ART LIVINGSTON

The Eastern horizon's hills fringed in light—
As a soft mellow crimson glow
bursts through,
And with piercing rays, bombard
the fleeing Night,
Imparting a reflected luster to
morning dew
In confusion, the cold black co-
harts flee—
Followed by a rear-guard in dawn-
blue-gray;
Earth awakes with song of bird
and buzz of bee,—
The Battle is won.—All glory to the victor,—day.
