

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

Vol. 8 TRYON, N. C., TUESDAY, JUNE 18, 1935 Est. 1-31-23

COMMUNITY LETTERS

Mrs. Howard Bissell in Buffalo, N. Y., and Fred S. Ford of Detroit, Michigan, renewed their subscription to The Bulletin today. Tryonites who have business affairs that keep them out of town show their interest in Tryon by keeping their subscription renewed for The Bulletin or The Polk County News and some have both papers sent to them. Every time you give The Bulletin a news item you not only help the paper to be more interesting in Tryon but you help to keep hundreds of out-of-town friends interested in you and Tryon. Mrs. Anne Bosworth Greene, who leaves today, is having The Bulletin forwarded to her in Vermont; Bishop Touret is getting it in Massachusetts; Mrs. Banning and the Washburns in Minnesota; Miss Colgate in New Hampshire; the J. C. Kimberlys in Neenah, Wisconsin; Miss Cornelia Williams in Maryland; Mrs. H. M. Fraser in Florida; Kales, Crapo, Flint, and Beaumont in Detroit; Pinckney Williams in Indiana; T. H. Coggey in New Jersey; Mrs. A. J. Dempsey in Kansas; Mrs. Leonard Carpenter in Canada; and many others. Remember when you send in a news item you are writing to your friends elsewhere.

Mrs. John M. Morehead and son of Charlotte have taken Dr. Haisch's log cabin on Melrose Ave., for the summer.

Little Miss Annie Sims of Greenwood, S. C., is visiting Miss Hope Schilleter.

Miss Betty Doubleday left today to spend the summer at a camp in New York.

J. Hugh Rabun of Asheville is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Creasman.

Strange As It Seems

"In 'Strange as It Seems' feature run in many dailies by John Hix there recently appeared a statement to the effect that a pine and an oak in Tryon grew together in four different places. Since it has appeared in print the office of Tryon's enterprising daily, The Bulletin, which enjoys the distinction of being the "littlest" daily printed, has been deluged with telephone calls wanting to know where the freak tree growth is located.

"On the surface it appears that in a small town like the charming mountain city just above Spartanburg such a curiosity would be easily located, or it might be that like the four-leaf clover legend it escaped the eyes of those who sought it everywhere except at home. Anyway The Bulletin stands in line to get at the root of the matter, for its patrons and readers want to get a line on the combination tree—an oak and a pine mingling together in unison is something decidedly out of the ordinary in plant life."—Spartanburg Journal.

And the Journal didn't know that one of Spartanburg's leading citizens, A. M. Law, owns these unusual trees in Tryon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Blackwell and children and Mr. Blackwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Blackwell, leave Wednesday for Englewood, N. J. While in Englewood Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Blackwell will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Blackwell for two months. During their absence Dr. Elfrink and son, Bill, who are at the H. C. Metcalf home in Columbus will occupy the J. S. Blackwell home in Gillette Woods.
