Ted Ballenger To Inoculate Dogs

An advertisement in today's Bulletin states that Ted Ballenger will inoculate dogs under the regulations passed by the recent legislature in an effort to prevent dogs from going "mad". Mr. Ballenger is one of the foremost authorities in the county on dogs. And his appointment as the official to inoculate dogs in Tryon is very fortunate for local dog lovers.

Grant, Tennis Victor

Bryan Bitsy Grant, of Atlanta, Ga., who has played on the Tryon courts as the guest of C. P. Rogers, won the National Clay Courts championship Sunday in Chicago when he defeated Frankie Parker 4-6; 6-1; 6-3; 6-0. Grant and Bill Tilden are the only players in the world to win the title three times in succession.
