

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

Vol. 8 TRYON, N. C., SATURDAY, AUG. 24, 1935 Est. 1-31-28

FILLERS

Errors are made even in fillers. Ralph Jackson said that letter we wrote about yesterday did not come from Baltimore. He's right. We received so many that day from different parts of the United States that we got his mixed up. The one Mr. Jackson received was from New York, the firm of J. L. Taylor & Co. So many tailors are from Baltimore that the association mixed the writer up. Dr. Ethel Eisner, chiropractist, of Asheville, was returning from a visit in Alaska and read about The Bulletin in the Omaha, Nebraska, World-Herald, and mailed the clipping to us.

Among the newspaper people asking for copies are Norman J. Halderman of Reading, Pa., R. A. Johns of Longview, Texas, M. S. Dunbar of Verona, N. J., Allan Raymond Murdock of Chicago, C. L. Elliott, Bloomfield, N. J.

Lee Uhler of Baltimore writes, "All I know about what I read in the papers is that half is false. Your small paper must be a better one." He also says: "Muzzle the masses and you destroy democra-masses and you destroy democracy."

Harry Russell Wilkins, past president of the Gaffney Rotary club writes:

"However commonplace we think we are
Our influence is felt both near and far
And if we make false steps, or speak the truth
We hinder or we help some worthy youth."

Clarence Edwards bought five copies of The Bulletin yesterday
