WINTER PAYS EARLY VISIT TO NEW YORK

Albany, N. Y., Oct 7. — New York state folk were beginning to believe in the old axiom about October's clear cool weather tonight after a day and night of shivering in temperatures that in some places dropped halfway from freezing to zero. Readings of 15 and 16 above zero were reported in several sections.

The unprecedented cold snap had its serious side too, with its damage to grape crops in central southern New York and to vegetable crops generally in the northern part of the state.

The temperature of Owl's Head, traditionally the spot where the weather man makes his cold waves, was 18 above zero last night. The ground was reported frozen to the depth of two inches and thick ice formed on pools of water.

At Malone, a few miles away, it was 28 degrees, four below freezing when the milk man made his rounds this morning. At Mountain View and Lake Titus it was reported 20 above zero. What produce was left in gardens was frozen and leaves tumbled from trees.

At Dansville, N. Y., near the Finger Lakes grape region, the crop loss was estimated at 200 tons. Thermometer readings were 28 degrees here. Batavia, N. Y., reported readings of about 20 degrees also.—Asheville Citizen.

McKee-Walker

Miss Maggie McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. McKee of Mill Spring and a teacher in the Mill Spring public school, was married on Saturday noon to Mr. Yates Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Walker of Mill Spring. The groom is employed by the Duke Power Company at Turner Shoals.

Tea-Lecture

The Lanier Club tea and lecture was the outstanding program scheduled for this afternoon. The tea is to be served at the library from 4 to 5 o'clock. Following this social hour Mrs. A. L. Berry, a world traveller, Bible scholar and author, will give a lecture on "Lost and Buried Cities of the East."

MASS MEETING FOR TONIGHT

All citizens interested in helping to sell the assets of Tryon are urged to attend the mass meeting tonight at Missildine's hall promptly at 7:30. Everyone welcome to make suggestions.
