People Must Will To Make Peace

Robert Lathan, editor of The Asheville Citizen delivered an Armistice address Sunday evening before a packed house at a union meeting of all churches of the community held at the Tryon Methodist church.

Rev. L. R. Akers, Jr., presided over the service, Dr. Chas G. Sewall gave the invocation, Rev. L. J. Keels read the Scriptures, Rev. C. P. Burnett, introduced the speaker and Dr. George F. Taylor pronounced the benediction. The high school chorus under the direction of Mrs. Walter Jones led the music.

Mr. Lathan selected as his subject, "The Challenge of Our Times to America and to the Church." The World War did not end with the signing of the Armistice. The present Italo-Ethiopian conflict is just another outcropping of the past World War which has been going on economically and with threats ever since, because we have not learned how to make peace.

No war can exist without America in some way being affected by it. Conditions have changed and all nations have been brought closer together in their relations to one another. In the past kings and rulers made war with each other and ended it by the payment of money or by the presenting of a rose, but now the peoples of nations have a say so, and rulers can not make satisfactory peace without public sentiment supporting them. The German rulers signed a peace treaty that placed punishment upon 70,000,000 Ger-

ON RADIO

From 2 o'clock until 3 o'clock the National Broadcasting company will present a dramatic and musical program as its tribute to the war dead. The program consists of a musical interpretation of the great War from the time it was declared until the Armistice was signed. The orchestra will be under the direction of Leopold Spitzgally and the songs will be sung by several well known NBC artists.

The French Armistice Day program will be heard this afternoon at 3:45. The international broadcast, which will be on the air for 15 minutes, will consist of musical selections by the Garde Republican band and a talk by General Maxime Weygand, chief of staff of the French army.

A program entitled the Historic Armistice Day Bugle will be heard at 4 o'clock. The bugle to be heard during the broadcast is the original one which was blown at the end of the war and will be blown by Bugler Sellier.

Hollywood's tribute to the Unknown Soldier will be heard at 4:30 over WWNC and will consist of a special musical program by the California Mounted band of 45 pieces. A troupe of 40 girls from the motion picture studios will participate in the program and the reading of a tribute to the Unknown Soldier will also be heard.

Richard Crooks, operatic tenor, will be heard tonight during the Voice of Firestone program over WWNC at 8:30.—Asheville Citizen
