Gov. Nellie T. Ross To Visit In Tryon

Postmaster W. H. Stearns has received a letter from J. A. Game-well of Wofford college stating that former Governor Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, will pay a visit to Tryon's handicraft shops on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Ross is now director of the U. S. Mint. She will speak at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in Spartanburg at the Wofford college auditorium. Her subject will be "The Drama of Government." Mrs. Ross was the first woman governor in the United States. She has been a leader in American politics for a number of years and is the first woman director of the mint. She will arrive in Spartanburg at 11:45 tomorrow morning and will come here sometime during the afternoon if the weather is fair.

Large Crowd Attends First Prize Drawing

The largest crowd seen on the vacant lot in many a day was at the first drawing of the $300 prize money on Saturday afternoon at 4:30. The number of tickets was so great that the barrel made to hold them was not large enough and a temporary pasteboard box was substituted. Little Miss Gelolo Iris Kell, blindfolded, drew out the lucky tickets. First prize of $20 in cash went to Clarence Lankford of Tryon, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lankford. The second prize of $10 in cash went to Dewey Laughter of Saluda. The drawing was quickly done as the winners

Gantt Services This Afternoon

Funeral services for Dr. L. Rosa Hirschmann Gantt, prominent physician of Spartanburg and (Tryon) who died Saturday at a hospital in Philadelphia, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Temple B'nai Israel, conducted by Rabbi Jacob S. Raisin of Temple Beth Elochim, Charleston, the oldest reform temple in the United States. Interment will follow in Oakwood cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be L. A. Meyerson, Harry Price, S. Shapiro, Abe Smith, Max Marks and A. H. Morris.

Dr. Gantt, a practicing physician in Spartanburg for 35 years had been taken to Philadelphia for treatment several weeks ago, and apparently was improving when suddenly stricken.

She was born in Charleston and was the first woman graduate of the Medical college of South Carolina.

After graduation she moved to Spartanburg to specialize in her profession as an eye, ear and throat specialist.

She was married to Colonel Robert J. Gantt in 1903.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sisters, Miss Cecile Hirschmann of New York City and Mrs. Samuel Wineberg of Sumter. —Spartanburg Herald.
