FILLERS

This isn't written to fill space but to condense a lot of items in one. So many ads have come in today that we don't know how many pages we'll have at this writing.

Manager Nessmith of Tryon's Theatre wants a reader on "Harmony Lane" now showing. Says it is based on the life of Stephen C. Foster, author of "Swanee River," "Old Black Joe" and many other old familiar songs.

Another filler is suggested by a prominent woman horseback rider who reports that autoists often frighten horses by suddenly blowing horns within a few feet of the horses. This is dangerous and may cost the life of horse and rider. A little more thoughtfulness.

Missildine's Pharmacy has been shipping merchandise to Africa, Canada and other far away places. J. Foster Searles was the African recipient.

In reading proof of this week's Fork County News I noticed a bully story in the farm section where J. Alvin Wilson reports the donation of $30 from a Tryon Rotarian to be used in aiding farmers in the county to purchase purebred bulls and improve our stock of dairy cattle.

An article in today's Charlotte Observer reports that Mae West has some chairs upholstered with Cloth of Gold. Just wondered if it meant the Tryon product.

Another article of interest to all Tryonites is an outline of Tryon life 40 years ago. It will appear in this week's issue and is written

Trade Street Helps 'Key Know' Party, At Library Tonight

The Ways and Means committee of the Lanier club is the "key know" committee of the club. They have to "know" the ways and means to find the "key" to unlock the doors to the hearts and purses of many good people and provide funds with which to operate the Lanier library. They know that a key to the situation is to provide a good time and lots of fun for their victims and to make it worthwhile. They have already found ways and means to offer 140 prizes for the winners at the party tonight. There'll be lots of fun, for each nickel game will bring somebody a valuable prize worth many times more. Tryon merchants donating prizes are Jackson's Grocery Store, Jackson & Jackson, A&P, Dixie, Ballenger's, McNeely's, Mel-Mar Products, Inc., Betsy Bird, Blue Ridge Weavers, Missildine's Pharmacy, Mountain Industries, Slack's Pharmacy, Arledge Hardware, Buchanan's 5&10c, Tryon's Theatre Lobby.

The admission fee is 25 cents and covers refreshments. It will take some nickels to play the Keno boards so bring along a few extra ones and enjoy the fun at the library tonight at 8 o'clock.

Basketball Tonight

In Tryon gym with Inman Town boys and girls starting at 7:30. Small admission. C. M. Eargle, referee.
