Feathered Friends Like Tryon, Too

Tourists and guests from far away places are not the only ones who find Tryon an enjoyable place in which to live. Through the courtesy of Mr. A. M. Law we have a list of the many birds that make Tryon their home during the migration season. A great portion of these birds spend the spring and summer in and around Tryon and enjoy the beautiful breezy days and cool nights. To the lovers of nature and the out-of-doors birds tell many things and the long list of birds compiled by Mr. Law speak well for this park-like community. The list is as follows:

Red Wing Black Bird, Blue Bird, Indigo Bunting, Cardinal, Cat Bird, Chikadee, Black and White Creeper, Purple Finch, Flicker, Arcadian Fly Catcher, Crested Fly Catcher, Least Gnat Catcher, Gold Finch, Rose Breasted Grosbeak, Ruby Throated Humming Bird, Blue Jay, Junco, Carolina Wren, House Wren, Bob White, Cedar Wax Wing, Chat, Mourning Dove; Warblers: Chestnut Sided, Magnolia, Blackburnian, Black Throated Blue, Black Poll, Bay Breasted, Cape May, Yellow Throated, Prairie, Black and White, Hooded, Myrtle, Pine, Swainson, Yellow, Louisiana Water Thrush, Yellow Throated Vireo, Mountain Solitary Vireo, Red Eyed Vireo, White Eyed Vireo, Wood Pewee, King Fisher, Kinglet, Field Lark, Purple Martin, Mocking Bird, Night Hawk, Sparrow Hawk, Rabbit Hawk, Nut Hatch, Baltimore Oriole, Orchard Oriole, Oven Bird,

Professional Tennis

Big Bill Tilden, the greatest tennis player of all time, comes to Spartanburg tonight with his troupe of pro netters to exhibit at the Wofford College fieldhouse.

The matches start at 8 o'clock and a full night of action is booked. The troupe includes Tilden, Bruce, Barnes, Mrs. Ethel Arnold, Jimmy McClure and Alfred Chapin.

Miss Jane Sharp, scheduled to play here with the troupe, contracted influenza last week in St. Louis and will be out for several weeks.—Wilton Garrison in Spartanburg Herald.

County News

By JAMES E. JOHNSON

The road from Columbus to Mill Spring is undergoing repairs . . . Fire burned over a large boundary of woods in the vicinity of the rock cut the past week . . . The father of W. A. ## JOHN CHARLES THOMAS

When John Charles Thomas walks onto the concert stage at Converse college on May 1, at 8:30 o'clock, he will bring with him all the freshness and vigor of the best type of American sportsman. He has the muscular physique of a fighter, the calm of an angler, the breeziness of a yachtman, plus whatever qualities go to make up a good golfer—for he is a mighty good golfer.—Spartanburg Herald.
