Masonic Picnic At Lake Tonight

The Polk County Masons will celebrate St. John's Day this evening with a picnic at Lake Lanier docks in front of the Inn. An attractive program has been arranged and it promises to be one of the most interesting events of its kind ever held in the community. All Masons and their families are invited. The Lake Lanier Inn is also serving a special supper for non-Masons who care to eat at the Inn and have the privilege of watching the Masonic program from the Inn.

Revival Services

Rev. Nathan Chapman is conducting revival services every night this week at the Tryon Second Baptist church. The public is invited to attend these services.

Plan Skeet Here

R. H. Cooner of Charleston, S. C., and Ernest Kerhulas of Tryon are looking for a shooting site preparatory to organizing a skeet club for Tryon so that all who love trap shooting may enjoy this popular sport which is held at Pinehurst, Asheville and other resort towns.

Judge and Mrs. T. E. Brown of Washington, D. C., are guests for a month at Hotel Tryon. Judge Brown was formerly head of the judicial district of the Panama Canal Zone. He and Mrs. Brown have already fallen in love with Tryon.

At Kiwanis Tuesday

Three speakers entertained the Tryon Kiwanians on Tuesday at 1 p. m., at Hotel Tryon. Attorney M. R. McCown, who returned a few days ago from a fishing trip to Georgetown, S. C., with J. Hertz Brown and D. M. Fraser of Spartanburg, gave an interesting account of his visit to J. Foster Bourne's Fishing & Hunting lodge on South Island, 16 miles out of Georgetown, S. C. Mr. McCown not only told a fascinating fishing tale about the big channel bass they caught, but he brought two of the big fish back with him. They weighed over 30 pounds each. All the fishmen had a delightful time with good catches. Mr. McCown told of the interesting people who go to this place to fish in the summer and to hunt ducks and deer in winter. Tom Yawkey, owner of the Boston Red Sox, has a home on the island. A good many of the earlier wealthy rice planters of South Carolina also had homes on the island which is rich in its history as well as hunting and fishing attractions.

Robert G. Baldwin who has been going to Florida the past ten years gave an interesting account of the growth of Florida and particularly Miami which is flooded with tourists, gamblers and people seeking rest. Mr. Baldwin stated that Miami lighted at night and reflected in the water presents one of the most beautiful skylines in America.

Loring Chase of Middlebury college, gave a brief picture of Vermont and its chief crops, marble, maple sugar and tourists. Mr.
