The Bulletin Editor Writes from Asheville

Asheville, N. C., July 9.—During the past few meetings of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in Tryon some interesting programs have been given. Retiring president B. B. Bishop, Jr., gave an interesting talk on "Hogs" at the Rotary club last week. The last two Kiwanis meetings were very interesting. Last week Supt. W. A. Schilleter told of the needs of Tryon school for more Home Economics equipment, also the need of Manual Training and Business Courses in order to fit students for their life work and give them something more than just book learning. This week C. M. Howes fascinated the Kiwanians with his experiences at an insane asylum where he was an official for over two years. He described the different forms of insanity and demonstrated methods used in handling the most difficult inmates. The secretary of the club was strapped in a straight jacket and treated as an example. (That's why he had to take a vacation).

The Briarhopper Boys

The Briarhopper Boys from Charlotte entertained a full house at Tryon's Theatre last night. String music and singing of the better kind was rendered in a most enjoyable manner. The audience showed their appreciation by the very liberal applause following each act. This group will furnish the music for the dance tonight at the school gymnasium, and will w. be stepping on your toes?

FILLER

Channing Pollock, playwright and author, who has a serial story, "Synthetic Gentleman," in The Polk County News, relates this interesting bit: "William Gillette, the actor, studied stenography and, living in a boarding house of the better class, practiced every evening by taking down all that was uttered in the drawing room. Years later he went over his notebooks and found that in four months of incessant conversation no one had said anything that made any difference to anybody." —John G. Braggaw, in The State.
