

When Lady Nancy Astor came to Tryon and spoke at the Parish House, the building was packed, and Postmaster W. H. Stearns, who lives across the street in front of the Parish House, didn't take advantage of his proximity to get a good seat. He had to stand up because he let a lot of people from Asheville, Spartanburg and other places go right by his door and beat him to all the seats. The same thing may happen at the Ruth Draper performance on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A lot of reservations have already been made by people in Asheville and elsewhere. Miss Draper's performance is a great attraction for New York, London and the large cities of the World. It is unusual for a town the size of Tryon to have the privilege of hearing her. It is a treat all Tryonites with $1.50 can enjoy, but if you are planning to attend the performance make your reservations as soon as possible so that as many local people who want to can get a good seat. The performance is for the benefit of Tryon. The fact that this noted woman will entertain us is enough, but that she will donate the proceeds to Tryon charity through courtesy of her host, Mrs. M. B. Flynn, is indeed a double gift to the community.
