Among the prominent personalities who visit Tryon none is more interesting than "Jim" Perkins, chairman of the board of the National City Bank of New York. His hearty voice of genuine fellowship, and keen, friendly eyes, and smile of understanding create a spirit of optimism that warms one toward him. Those who know, say that Mrs. Perkins is even better.

A reporter watching the street this morning noticed that among the first customers at the Tryon Bank were Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, and the head of one of the biggest banks in New York. What little town wouldn't be proud of that?

Tryon Girl Scouts hiked to Skyuka Mountain today.
