Home For Nurses Nearing Completion

The Gertrude Holbrook Hardin Memorial Nurses' Home, which, with its complete furnishings, is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Kimberly to St. Luke's hospital, is nearing completion. The Home, a substantial stone structure, stands on the high ground just to the west of the hospital, near enough to be easily accessible. It is built in the Southern Colonial style from plans drawn by John R. Ferguson, and contains an apartment for the superintendent, a living room for the nurses, seven bed rooms and four baths, with a small kitchenette. Mr. Montgomery Whaling donated his services as builder, while Bishop Frank Hale Touret and Rev. Charles G. Sewall acted as a Building Committee for the trustees of the hospital. The final grading and planting of the grounds will be done under the supervision of Major Bernard Sharp. It is expected that within a week or two, the building will be occupied by the nurses, which will leave the rooms heretofore occupied by them on the ground floor of the hospital free for an out-patient department, a much-needed addition to the hospital facilities. An endowment fund for the nurses' home has been provided, so that its maintenance will add nothing to the current expenses of the hospital. At some convenient time in the future, the Trustees will open the building for the inspection of friends of the hospital.

Carrs Buy Here

Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Carr of Asheville, who spent the past season in Tryon at Miss Harper's place in the Valley, have bought the Jenni place in the mountains, and have moved to Tryon to make their permanent home.

Smiths To Build

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Smith of Peoria, Ill., have arrived in Tryon and are guests at Circle Inn until they build their home on lots recently acquired in Gillette Woods. Dr. and Mrs. Smith are parents of Paul C. Smith, formerly of Tryon. Lawrence Doubleday, son of Mrs. Harold Doubleday, and the designer of the Luckey house on Piney Mountain, has drawn the plans for the proposed Smith house in Gillette Woods.

Dance Friday

Sunnydale will be the scene of another big dance on Friday evening at 9:30 o'clock when Tenny Freck's orchestra comes to town to furnish music for the event. Summer dances are new for Tryon and these are growing in popularity.
