8 Mump Cases Worst Illness To Hit Scouts

Washington, July 6.—The chief medical officer of the Boy Scout Jamboree congratulated the 27,000 boys tonight on the state of their health.

Dr. W. L. Smith of New Orleans, public health service surgeon, said only 101 cases of sickness had been reported in a week.

"We couldn't have expected much better than that with all types of boys coming from all parts of the country," he said, with a broad smile. "Half of these boys would not have had medical attention if they had been at home because their parents would have taken care of them."

Dr. Smith added the condition of the two youths most seriously ill is good.

"We have eight cases of mumps, but no two of them are in the same section," the doctor reported.

A pageant was presented in the Jamboree arena tonight.

Tryon Woman Is Robbed By Purse Snatcher

Mrs. Nelson Jackson of Tryon, was robbed by a purse snatcher on St. John street near the Montgomery building, early last night as she and Mr. Jackson were leaving the performance at a local theatre, city police reported.

City Detective B. B. Chapman, one of the officers engaged in the investigation of the case, said that a negro was picked up for investigation in connection with the robbery almost immediately, but that he had established his innocence to the satisfaction of officers and would be released.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were walking along the street from the Montgomery building to their parked car when a negro man suddenly reached from behind a small signboard, seized Mrs. Jackson's purse, and fled down an embankment and along the tracks of the Southern Railway nearby, the officer reported.

He made good his escape but officers last night were reported working on a clue which they expected to lead to identification of the foot pad.

The purse was said to have contained only personal properties and a small amount of silver.—Spartanburg Herald.
