TRYON, N. C. WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 1, 1937

"CURB" REPORTER

A slight error was made in Tuesday's Bulletin when we quoted Mr. Windsor as saying that Europe owed us over $20,000,000. It should have been twenty BILLION dollars School daze start in the morning Glad to see these dairies advertising more and better milk. No doubt about milk making healthier people. Milk has a better taste than medicine. Many a man smokes enough to provide his little undernourished children with an extra quart of milk . . . W. B. West, former Asheville banker, who arrives Thursday from Middleburg, Va., to occupy the Fred Bowes house in the riding country, is shipping two horses to Tryon for his use this winter . . . What do you think of Tryon getting a $15,000 post office The Nelson Jacksons are due in tonight from a tour of New England. They met Nelson, III, in New York where he landed after a visit to Europe, and the Boy Scouts World Jamboree in Holland . . . Polk county criminal court ended Tuesday and Solicitor C. O. Ridings has gone to Hendersonville to act on the Hazelwood investigation into the death of 12-year-old girl at High Bridge near Saluda schools closed in Illinois on account of infantile paralysis Bubonic plague

Baseball at Brevard

Tryon will play Brevard at Brevard on Thursday afternoon and at Beacon on Saturday afternoon. The Beacon game was postponed Saturday on account of the serious illness of Wilkey Capps, who died Sunday morning. If Tryon wins these two games she will have first place in the league for the second half, according to President Douglas S. Blois.

Butler's Dairy Agt. For Biltmore Dairy

According to an advertisement in today's Bulletin the Biltmore Dairy of Asheville has appointed Butler's Dairy of Tryon as distributors for the Biltmore Dairy Farms products such as certified milk, cottage cheese, butter, cream, buttermilk, certified eggs and vitamin "D" milk. Butler's Dairy will continue to sell its own Grade "A" Raw Milk in addition to any Biltmore products the public may desire.

Two Fugitives Reported Seen Near Fayetteville

The hunt for two escaped convicts sought as the slayers of George Penn, state highway patrolman, extended to the southeast section of North Carolina yesterday, as officers spread extensive dragnets through Cumberland and Bladen counties in an effort to apprehend William (Bill) Payne and Wash Turner.
