

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

(The Smallest Daily Newspaper In The World)

Vol. 10. Est. 1-31-28 TRYON, N. C., FRIDAY, SEPT. 10, 1937

"CURB" REPORTER

C. J. Lynch, who is working on the Harmon Field indebtedness fund, addressed the Tryon Rotary club today noon and presented the needs for immediate funds with which to pay off the final mortgage which becomes due on September 28. He reported very gratifying response on the part of a number of public spirited citizens who have contributed several hundred dollars. Checks may be made to Harmon Field Fund, and mailed to C. J. Lynch or direct to the Tryon Bank & Trust Co. . . . Major Sharp is still looking for a cow. Saw two fellows who had cows they said they wanted to keep them unless the major offered a mighty big price . . . Senator F. P. Bacon was exhibiting a stalk of corn today with six ears of corn growing on it. Corn certainly grows in this section. Prof. Ray Dodge says a bug must have stung Mr. Bacon's corn . . . M. A. Richards is looking well, just like his old rough self. The fighting spirit of Tryon's people is wonderful . . . Somebody misplacen my medicine almanac and I've lost tract of a lot of important birthdays and historical events that help to fill up this column. I know that about this time of year 1492 Columbus was way out in the Atlan-

Continued on Back Page

Clubs Endorse Efforts To Widen Bridge

The Tryon Rotary and Kiwanis clubs endorsed the movement this week to widen the Pacolet River bridge just north of Tryon and familiarly known as the Howes-Connor bridge. So many accidents and near accidents have occurred on or near the bridge that public sentiment is demanding that something be done by the proper authorities responsible. Prominent citizens all over this section have already signed a petition to present to the high way officials requesting them to consider widening the bridge. Abutments for a wide bridge are already there, but the present bridge will not permit two cars to pass on it at the regular traveling auto speed. Consequently when autoists try it they hit each other or the sides of the bridge.

Hutchison-Gentry

The following announcement has been received by their friends in Tryon:

"Mrs. Ben Early Talbutt announces the marriage of her daughter, Bessie Talbutt Hutchison, to Judge Joseph John Gentry, on Wednesday, the eighth of September, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, Durham, North Carolina, at home, 40 North Dean Street, Spartanburg, S. C."

Nine nations to hunt subs in Mediterranean. Orders given to sing marauders preying on ships.