

Tryon Rotary Club Is Ten Years Old

This week was the tenth anniversary of the Tryon Rotary club which received its charter on Sept. 12th, 1937, at a big banquet at Lake Lanier Tea house in the presence of 98 people many of them fellow Rotarians from the adjoining large cities. Over 40 came from the Asheville club. District Governor David Clark presented the charter which was received by Dr. A. J. Jervy, the first president of the Tryon club. Julian B. Hester, the first secretary, presided over today's meeting which was in charge of F. P. Bacon, the immediate past president. Senator Bacon conducted a quiz program. Every member and guest present were asked questions. The answers were enlightening as well as entertaining. The questions were taken from the Prof. Quiz book, The State Magazine and impromptu remarks. Dr. Jervy had one that he offered a dollar for the correct answer. Personal questions about local Rotarians, were also asked which brought out such information as only two Rotarians are natives of Polk county. More than 12 states are represented with South Carolina leading. About one third of the members are farmers. Half of them have been either in the army or navy. Three have been telegraph operators. The next meeting will be in charge of James Baker.
