

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

(The Smallest Daily Newspaper In The World)

Vol. 10, Est. 1-31-28 TRYON, N. C., MONDAY, OCT. 4, 1937

Alonzo Rhodes Is Captured By County Forces

m
K Sheriff Sam M. Henry reported last night that Alonzo Rhodes, said to be an escaped convict from a North Carolina prison farm, was captured by county and North Carolina officers about 3 o'clock yesterday (Sunday) morning at a house above Inman.

The sheriff said Rhodes received a sentence for murder in Polk county and that he had previously escaped, on one occasion being rearrested by Sheriff Will Wilkins of Polk county.

The sheriff said Rhodes had been at liberty for some time when he and his men, with the North Carolina authorities, surrounded the house in which he was staying and called on him to surrender.—Spartanburg Herald.

Betsy Suttle

ne
w Funeral services for little Betsy Suttle, three-year-old granddaughter of Mr and Mrs. Jack Gaze, were held this afternoon at the Presbyterian church. Interment in Tryon cemetery. The Rev. D. M. McGeachy, officiated. The little child was accidentally scalded early Friday morning when a pan of hot water was overturned from the stove into her lap. She was rushed to St. Luke's hospital for treatment and was brought home soon afterwards. Saturday morning her condition grew worse and she passed away Saturday afternoon. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Agnes Suttle, of Charlotte and a brother, Bruce, age 6.

“CURB” REPORTER

Sorry I missed that interesting talk of Dr. von Kahlden's at the Rotary club on Friday. He gave a talk about his recent visit to Germany . . . And Charlie Lynch brought up the proposition of entertaining the Old North State Tour caravan which is made up of travel agencies over the nation. They will arrive in Tryon on October 13th . . . Boy Scoutmasters are wanted for communities in Polk county . . . Sorry we ran John Washburn's stove ad again. He ordered it three times but sold the stove from the first ad . . . The Tryon P. T. A. will begin their annual drive for memberships this week . . . Eugene Turner writes from Kuling, China, on August 18: "In spite of our Shanghai address we are about four hundred miles from the havoc and distress of war there. Fortunately for us, tho at the price of missing the excitement and the thrill of danger, we are here in the Yangtze valley mountain resort of Kuling, with a couple of thousand other foreigners of eight or ten nationalities. Thru the radio and delayed papers we keep in touch with developments, but details are more immediately available to you in Tryon than to us here in Kuling. Occasionally, we get a thrill from the sight of a Japanese plane which

---- Continued on back page ----