

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

(The Smallest Daily Newspaper In The World)

Vol. 10. Est. 1-31-28 TRYON, N. C., FRIDAY, NOV. 5, 1937

"CURB" REPORTER

Deer! Deer Me! . . . Commissioner Eargle did shoot a deer on the hunt this week in Pisgah Forest, but he left it and donated it to the Oteen hospital. Harrison Bridgeman brought back a 170-pound buck. That's one he wont pass. Six other Tryonites are scheduled to hunt next Thursday and include J. W. Taylor, H. L. Arledge, C. J. Lynch, Ernest Kerhulas, Volney T. Barnette, and Mangus Green . . . Please some hunter answer this: This months' Kiwanis magazine has an artist's picture of turkeys in a tree looking over a nest, giving the impression that it is a turkey nest. We doubt it. Think turkeys nest on the ground . . . Headline in Spartanburg paper this morning that Three Held for Stealing Rabbit, but the article read babbitt . . . Tryon-Saluda football players are highminded today. They go to Mars Hill for a game this afternoon . . . American labor leaders object to David Windsor's choice of Charles E. Bedaux as guide on his proposed tour of America. Why don't they let David alone. It looks as if he will have to come to Tryon, where people let you live the way you want to provide, you don't bother anybody else . . . Chinese making

----- Continued on back page -----

Archibald Rutledge Delights Audience

Archibald Rutledge, poet laureate of South Carolina and nationally known writer of nature stories, was the guest speaker at the Lanier club meeting on Thursday afternoon at Lanier library. The house was packed to standing room and the constant ripples of merriment expressed the entertainment of the audience as the speaker told interesting humorous stories illustrating his subject, "Sources of Inspiration for Living". He found these sources in the beauty of womanhood, in the voices of the humble, in the faith of those who believe in you, in the sorow and dark things of life, in nature and in the lives of wild creatures.

Mrs. Harkness Smith, president of the club, introduced the speaker of whom the late Henry Van Dyke said: "No man living writes about nature with fuller knowledge and finer feeling."

Mr. Rutledge said that this was not his first visit to Tryon. He came here years ago when a boy and met that noted poet of the

----- Continued on Back Page -----

CORRECTION

The Tryon Garden club is invited to meet with the French Broad River Garden club for program and luncheon, Friday, Nov. 12, at 11:30, at the home of Mrs. Westray Battle, Macon avenue, Asheville. All planning to attend please notify Tryon secretary, Mrs. C. C. Curtis, before Monday