

Frigitaire is Always at the Top

"CURB" REPORTER

Paul V. McNutt is being boosted in Indiana for President to succeed Franklin D. Roosevelt . . . Wonder what Risotto Trieste tastes like? See in today's Bulletin where Mrs. Fuldner is advertising it at the Country club Thursday evening . . . John Cowan, merchant, is back on the job after two weeks' illness . . . Mrs. Robert Limbert, who came to Tryon last year, and with her husband bought a home this year, is assisting the Mill Spring school in starting a Home Economics department and is giving instructions in sewing, etc. A lot of unbleached muslin is needed for the students to practice on, and do you have a sewing machine to give away or sell cheap? Drop a card to W. H. Randolph, principal, Mill Spring . . . Electric service first came to Tryon 25 years ago on March 1, according to an article by Carroll P. Rogers in this week's Polk County News. Louis Avant of Charlotte was the first and only superintendent of the local power company which was sold to the Duke Power Co., in 1927. W. A. Newell, who was pastor of the Methodist church and principal of the graded school was vice-president of the power company. Ralph C. Erskine was secretary-treasurer of the Melrose Power Co., and president of the Tryon Electric Service Co. Mr. Erskine also operated a chair factory near the present location of the Southern Mercerizing plant. When you cross the rock bridge on March 1, just pause a moment and remember here's where Reddy Kilowatt first entered Tryon 25 years ago.
