The Doggiest Thing

Every dog has his day and on this coming Saturday at Harmon Field, the canine world will come into its own. Aristocrats and mongrels, seasoned campaigners and novices; all will gather democratically on the field at 2 p. m., under the critical but kindly eyes of the judges. This delightfully informal show held for the exhibitors, rather than the gate, is a pleasant fixture each year that almost invariably attracts a gallery of enthusiasts.

Those owners whose pets are to make their debut this year need have no misgivings as to the trouble involved. It is not necessary to brush pendulous ears into sleek smoothness or attempt to induce a wave into a perfectly straight jacket. Even though he arrives at the field immersed in Tryon mud, little Fido has a chance to win one of the coveted prizes. The hound dog that has been reluctantly coaxed from the cushioned luxury of his master's manure pile may be found to possess that indefinable charm that appeals to the three arbiters. It is PERSONALITY that counts and who knows what favorite of the household may not have been hiding his light under a capacious bushel? And though he lacks charm, the clumsiest mongrel may emerge a champion if his tail wags with unrestrained vigor. So give your dog a break!

The several new classes arranged by the management should arouse enthusiasm. In the class featuring headdress for their pets, the owners will have an opportunity to test their ingenuity and in the relay race for owners and dogs, there are amusing possibilities. Don't let rules and procedure alarm you. Seven feet of Lefty Flynn will rise on occasion to explain the classes and their requirements. The judges may strike a professional attitude but their knowledge of dogs is absolutely nil. So, please fill out your entry blank as soon as you possibly can and remember it is essential that all owners showing dogs should be at the field before 2 p. m., so that the start may not be retarded.

It is to be hoped that all Tryonites will attend this amusing show. Come in tweeds or jodhpurs, slacks or overalls; by motor or afoot. Come any old way and help us make this year's show the doggiest thing in town.
