Up On the Farm

Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Lucas of Charlotte were visitors in Tryon Wednesday. Mr. Lucas, who is general sales director of the Duke Power Co., attended a conference with County Agent J. A. Wilson of Columbus, M. T. Geddings of Spartanburg, Duke Power Co., Agricultural instructor and Manager K. A. Bowen of the Tryon branch. Mr. Geddings will be available to all farmers in Polk county needing advice or assistance with their farm electrical problems. Just as Mr. Wilson helps farmers with raising their crops, etc. Mr. Geddings will give them advice on how to plan their farm electric equipment. Great progress has been made by farmers in using electrically heated plant beds, chicken brooders, water systems, churns and many other things that have made farm life more attractive. The comforts and conveniences of electricity are bringing more people back to the farm for a more wholesome life according to officials at the conference.

MOTHERS!

What are you going to do for your 9, 10, 11, year-old boys this summer? Do you know anything about Cubs, an organization planned to interest young boys in worthwhile things such as handicraft and the arts, as well as wholesome outdoor activities and games. Cubbing is supervised by the mothers with the assistance of Boy Scout leaders. Senator F. P. Bacon is heading the movement for the organization in Tryon. If you are interested in having your boy get the advantages offered by Cubbing, come to the Tryon school house on Saturday evening at 7:30. Scout Executive R. M. Schiele will be present to explain the work. If you are interested in your own boy's development you can't afford to stay away. Everybody in Polk county is invited to the meeting.
