McCown at Kiwanis

Attorney M. R. McCown was the chief speaker at the Tryon Kiwanis club on Tuesday at 1 p. m., at Hotel Tryon and stressed the importance of co-operative thinking in matters pertaining to the community and county organizations, and the value of working together to iron out differences as far as possible for the common good of all. L. A. Avant had charge of the program. A number of Kiwanians will attend a district meeting in Asheville on Friday evening at the George Vanderbilt Hotel. A feature of the meeting will be an address by Carolinas Kiwanis Governor Ames Haltiwanger of Columbia, S. C.

Major Huger

Major Alfred Huger passed away at 3 a. m., today. Services and interment at Charleston, S. C., on Friday. Major Huger came to Tryon with his family in 1933. Although an invalid and unable to leave his home his noble character and keen intellect drew to him many friends from the community and throughout the Carolinas. They were friends who enjoyed an interchange of thought with an interesting personality; and they came to receive inspiration as well as to give comfort and cheer.

Major Huger was born at Charleston, S. C., on October 10, 1876, son of Thomas Bee and Carolina Banks (Smith) Huger. He was educated at Porter Military Academy at Charleston and Cornell University, LLB, '03, and was a member of the Epsilon Chapter, Sigma Phi fraternity. During the World War he was a major in the quartermaster corps and was assigned to the First Section, General Staff, S. and S. Tours, France, Chief of Division of Staff representing the American Shipping Control division; and was First Admiralty Counsel U. S. Shipping Board. Major Huger was a member of a prominent Charleston law firm, and was a charter member of the American Law Institute and a member of the American Bar Association. He was president of the Huguenot Society of South Carolina and a member of other civic organizations. He was the author of a number of books and articles including "The Carolina Low Country," published under the auspices of the Society for the Preserva-
