Says Wrong Man

Tom LanKford, representative of the Osborne-Simpson Burial association wants a correction made from their advertisement in the Bulletin yesterday which listed Tom Langford as a representative. Tom LanKford is the Burial man and Tom Langford is the meat market man. Mr. LanKford lives in Saluda; Mr. Langford in Tryon.

Firemen Entertained

Members of the Tryon Fire Department enjoyed a steak supper Wednesday evening at the Firemen's Hall where Honorary Fireman C. J. Lynch, representing the Tryon Riding & Hunt club acted as host. Besides the good supper the members enjoyed an hour of fellowship with speeches and jokes. An interesting feature of the meeting was the reading of the minutes of a Firemen's meeting in 1920 and a roll call of that meeting. W. W. Creasman was the secretary.

McFarland Applies For Charter Today

Application was made today for a charter for the McFarland Mutual Burial Association, according to a statement by R. F. McFarland, local funeral director, and president of the association. The response to the announcement that applications were being taken for membership in this association, was, according to Mr. McFarland, beyond expectations and many new applications are being received every day.
