

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

(The World's Smallest Daily Newspaper)

Vol. 11, Est. 1-31-28

TRYON, N. C., FRIDAY, MAY 27, 1938

A local product rapidly gaining favor is the vermiculite insulation produced by Bill Jackson & Co., at their plant near Gowansville in upper Greenville county in sight of Hogback Mountain. Vermiculite is a mica substance that is dug from the ground and suddenly thrown over a hot flame which explodes it and makes it as light as a feather. You can easily lift a hull sack full with one hand. The Ballenger Company was being insulated with it last night . . . The Banty Rooster took a swing on the chain in front of the store yesterday and flew to a beam on the second story above the awning and let out a loud crow . . . Spartanburg may get $800,000.00 for slum clearance project . . . Today is the birthday of Postmaster W. H. Stearns and of the late Senator J. C. Fisher . . . Rev. Hoyt Blackwell elected president of Mars Hill college to succeed Dr. R. L. Moore, resigned . . . 50 people were injured yesterday in Detroit police-strikers fight . . . The Nelson Jacksons leave in a few days for an extended stay in California this summer . . . Tomorrow is challenge day all over the county, and is the day for you to challenge the rights of certain people to vote. Go to the election places and ask to see the list of registered voters . . . Tryon Country club swimming pool is open for the season with Louise Hilton an expert swimmer in charge.

Monday Is National Memorial Day

Monday being National Memorial Day the post offices and banks will be closed all day. People needing change and checks cashed will have to get busy Saturday morning before 12 o'clock or wait until Tuesday. The same suggestion applies to those needing stamps for letters to be mailed before Tuesday. The post office closes every Saturday afternoon. Patrons have only a half day from Friday to Tuesday in which to do business with Uncle Sam this week.

Dr. D. P. McGeachy Coming Here Next Week

Dr. D. P. McGeachy, pastor of the Decatur, Ga., Presbyterian church for the past 20 years will come to Tryon on June 2 as the guest of his brother, the Rev. D. M. McGeachy, and will conduct a series of meetings for one week. Services will be held daily in the afternoon at 3:30 and in the evening at 8 o'clock at the Tryon Presbyterian church. The public is invited. Dr. McGeachy conducted meeting here about six years ago and was very popular with members of the various denominations in the community as well as with his own. His church in Decatur has 1,300 members and is the church attended by most of the students of Agnes Scott college. He comes to Western North Carolina every summer and has a home at Montreat near Asheville.