Large Tracts of Land Sold Here

Ernst Mahler has bought 165 acres of the old J. B. Page property adjoining the Mahler's Chinquapin Farm in the Riding Country. This makes the Mahler estate one of the largest in that section. Sale was made through C. J. Lynch.

Another big land sale was that of 1,200 acres to Robert N. Golding of Lake Forest, Ill., who has bought four tracts of the old Westall place in Columbus township including 70 acres of the E. W. Dedmond place, adjoining. On the property is a beautiful water fall dropping in steps for about 100 feet. It is little known in the county but is known locally as Swanson's Falls and is formed by Swanson's Creek which runs into Pacolet River. The falls are surrounded by ferns and evergreens and is the chief attraction of the property. This sale was made through C. J. Lynch.

Mr. Golding expects to visit Tryon sometime in July. No plans have been announced for the development of the property.
