

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

(The World's Smallest Daily Newspaper)

Vol. 11. Est. 1-31-28

TRYON, N. C., TUESDAY, JUNE 28, 1938

TRYON BOYS CLUB

By Richard McClure

Three more boys have joined the club. They are: Jack Melton, Tom Melton and Roy Williams.

Wilton Ferguson has finished a basket, J. Alvin Wilson has finished two pieces of work in lineoleum.

The boats which the club is building will be on exhibition when they finish them, and all the other work.

Points are given each day to the group which wins the different games. The game played to-day was baseball.

"CURB" REPORTER

A stream of knowledge is Dr. Brooks whose initials "R. R. R." to us suggest reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic. In yesterday's news item about him the printer left out one of the "R's". He probably thought this typewriter made an error as it often does. To finish a three year Rhodes scholarship course in two years, get a Ph.D. from Yale and become Professor of Economics at Williams by the time he is 33 is no small achievement A Circular poster from J. Edgar Hoover offers me $2,500 reward for information about Louis Buchalter who has violated the anti-trust laws. Sorry, I don't know anything about him Jim Fisher dug up an old newspaper clipping the other day that gave an account of Amos Foster pitching for Columbia against Augusta in the Sally league in 1930. The clipping said: "Foster, Tryon, N. C. recruit had everything a pitcher could desire in the opener, and held the visitors to three singles in 11 frames. It was a pitching duel. In the 11th inning, Young—that dashing Columbia short (now with Pittsburg) slapped the ball into left field to score the winning run. Foster rushed out and grabbed Young's hand, and the stands gave the two of them a great ovation. The game

--- Continued on back page ---

HEADLINES—

Many British angry as Spanish rebels sink two more of England's ships.

France and England warn Japan to stay off Isle of Hainan.

Congressman Snell of New York retires. Will not run again. Hamilton Fish expected to succeed him as House minority leader.

Dr. Carl V. Reynolds of the state Board of Health urged the Drug-gists in their convention in Asheville to help fight syphilis.

Ringling circus closed for the season on account of labor trouble. Big tent and animals head back to Sarasota, Fla. for winter quarters.

Director John Brophy of the C. I. O. charges that Henry Ford and Tom Girdler of Republic Steel are looking for a Hitler to fight their battles.

Tourist season reported good at Waynesville.

Bryson City hatchery has 625,000 fish in rearing pools.