Brownlee-Carey Home Burns

"Seven Pines", the home of J. E. Brownlee, manager of the local A&P store, and his wife's father, P. M. Carey, of the Carey Transfer and Storage Co., of Spartanburg, located beyond Lynn on the Columbus highway, was completely destroyed by fire of undetermined origin at 1 o'clock today. None of the occupants were at home at the time of the fire, and when it was discovered by a neighbor and the Tryon fire department called, the flames had made such a headway that none of the furnishings was saved with the exception of the refrigerator. Two adjoining houses were kept from burning by the fire department, using water from the auxiliary tank on the new fire truck to keep the sides nearest the flaming structure wet.

Mr. Carey had occupied the house, which was formerly the Bowden home, for about two years. Mr. Brownlee had only been there a short time. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

It is also proposed that a ball sweepstakes be held. Entry fee 50c.

Curtis Arledge Is Taken to Death

Hendersonville, July 7.—Funeral services for I. Curtis Arledge, 55, prominent Hendersonville attorney, who died at 11 o'clock Thursday morning at Mountain Sanatorium, Fletcher, will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at St. James Episcopal church here.

The Rev. Dr. N. Collins Hughes, of Hendersonville, retired Episcopal clergyman, will officiate at the last rites. Burial will be in Oakdale cemetery here.

Mr. Arledge had been in bad health for many months and death was due to a complication of diseases. He had been away from his office for weeks.

The attorney was the son of the late John P. Arledge and Elizabeth Rucker Arledge, members of prominent Polk and Rutherford county families. He was born in Polk county and was educated at Wake Forest college, the University of North Carolina, and the University of Pennsylvania. He was a graduate of the school of pharmacy of the University of Pennsylvania and for years was dean of the pharmaceutical department of Creighton university at Omaha, Neb. He taught in the pharmaceutical department at Creighton university for 10 years.

He was a member of the First Baptist church here and was a past president of the Hendersonville Kiwanis club.

Surviving are his widow; six children by a former marriage, Miss Doris Ann Arledge, of Hendersonville and Berea, Ky.; Mrs. Robert Settan, of Brevard; Miss
