Tryon vs Beacon Mills, 3:30

Local fans of baseball will be afforded the opportunity this afternoon to watch the home team go into action against a team that will take all they have and probably ask for more . . . Beacon Mills.

The game will start at 3:30 at Harmon Field.

Opening Beauty Shop

In Columbus

Mrs. T. S. Munday of Franklin, N. C., was here yesterday opening the Columbus Beauty Shop at the County Seat in the former office-library building next to the Mercantile building. The Columbus shop makes ten of a chain of beauty shops operated by Mrs. Munday, who also owns four beauty schools, the oldest in the state being at Franklin and the largest in North Carolina being at High Point. Her other schools are located at Gastonia and Johnson City, Tenn. The Columbus Beauty Shop will be operated by Miss Lucile Cuddy of Virginia, who is a graduate of the Franklin school.

THAXTER—GIGNOUX

A wedding of interest was that of Edward E. Gignoux, son of Col and Mrs. Frederick E. Gignoux to Miss Hildegard Schuyler Thaxter, daughter Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. Sidney St. Felix Thaxter of Portland, Me., on Thursday, June 30th at St. Luke's Cathedral. The bride and groom will make their home for two years at Cambridge, Mass., while the groom finishes his law course at Harvard. Mrs. Gignoux, the groom's mother, spent last winter in Tryon at Pine Crest Inn. The family has been associated with Tryon for many years.

Covington, Ky., July 8.—President Roosevelt, in two fighting speeches today, defended federal relief spending against the "political ballyhoo" of those who seek to overthrow this administration.
