

Stifled Verses For A Childrens' Party

By HILDA VON SILLER

"Sweet Childrens' voices floating on the air. . . ."

(I hear the little demons everywhere!)-

"In merry laughter, ever more and more-"

(For heaven's sake, just go and close that door!

And when this week-end's over,
I'll be glad-

Unless, by that time, they have driven me mad!)

"How blithely, gaily they come trooping in-"

(Great Scott!-can just four youngsters make that DIN!)-

"To welcome little guests with 'graceful glee"-

(Their shrieking voices fairly go through me!

I give it up: I cannot rhyme a word!

They beat the worst that I have ever heard!

Don't ask a birthday verse, I beg of you!

I'd sooner write one sitting in the Zoo!

(Or in my room on Melrose Avenue.)

Just NOW it seems the loudest spot in town:)

And, as you see, it's turned me upside down!
