Scout Executive Board Met at Lake Sunday

The Piedmont Boy Scout Council executive board met on Sunday at 11 o'clock at the Council Camp at Lake Lanier. President Bismark Capps presided over the religious service and the business session. A number of officials brought their wives and guests to inspect the new additions to the camp. The camp has made the most improvement this year of any time since the camp was established. The new assembly hall and accompanying bed rooms, the pottery shed, water-works system, and athletic field as well as a number of new cabins have been built this summer and the need for more improvement is seen as more boys are filling the camp beyond capacity. Some have been turned away for lack of facilities. District officials state that the camp is the most outstanding in the southeast.
