Mountain Industries To Open Shop On Trade Street

The Mountain Industries, and Appalachian Handweavers, manufacturers and distributors of Tryon Homespun, rugs, ties, bags, baskets and other mountain handicraft will open additional sales and display quarters sometime this month in the building now occupied by the Betsy Bird Antique Shop. Mr. Bird is moving his shop to Alabama. The Mountain Industries will continue in their present quarters as well as operate the Trade street store. Senator F. P. Bacon, owner of the Mountain Industries plans to remodel the interior of the Betsy Bird building as soon as it is available.

Dance Friday

Sunnydale will be the scene of the last college dance in Tryon this season. Ernest Kerhulas has secured Luke Chaney's orchestra to furnish music for the occasion.

Clubs Hear Guests From Drama School

Misses Sally Stearns and Inez Simons, officials of the Peterboro Players addressed a joint meeting of the Tryon Rotary and Kiwanis clubs on Wednesday noon at Oak Hall hotel. The speakers told of their work with their summer theatre at Peterboro and expressed the hope that plans could be worked out so that they could bring the school to Tryon. Before

Letters—

Mr. Seth Vining, Editor,
The Polk County News,

Dear Mr. Vining:

For possible use in the next issue of your local paper, I am inclosing you notice of official approval of the President of $48,362 for the construction and improvement of roads in that county. I felt this might be of local interest.

Very truly yours,

ZEBULON WEAVER.

"Construct and improve roads throughout Polk county including excavating, grading, spreading stone, constructing drains, building shoulders, and performing incidental and appurtenant work. Project also includes the operation of quarries to produce materials for use on this project. Not a part of the Federal Aid Highway System. State-owned property. In addition to projects specifically approved. Sponsor: North Carolina State Highway and Public Works Commission."
