"CURP" REPORTER

This is fair weather with fairs in progress or preparations being made for them. Polk County's Apple Show at Saluda is getting to be a big event and Saluda is making a name for herself The Rutherford County Fair at Rutherfordton this week is drawing crowds The Cleveland County Fair next week beginning on Tuesday is one of the biggest in the Southeast. Next on the program will be the Spartanburg Fair to which hundreds of Polk county people go each year This mystery radio control box at Avant's reminds me of the mysterious new ways of lighting as demonstrated at the lighting exposition put on by the Duke Power Company in Spartanburg last week. Under certain conditions a man carried around in his hand a lighted electric lamp that was not connected with any wires. A demonstration also showed that direct sun light had 10,000 candle power, the light under a tree 1,000 candle power, on the shady side of a building 500 candle power, inside a room next to window, 100 candle power, and farther away into the room it diminishes to 5 candle power. Life is worth living just to see what is going to happen next. A life devoted to service brings happiness and gives happiness Beecher said, "De-

Columbus to Be Hosts To K. M. Presbytery

By Geo. C. Dedmond

The Columbus Presbyterian church will be host to the Kings Mountain Presbytery which will meet next Tuesday, September 27, for the regular meeting of that body. About 75 to 80 ministers and laymen will attend. Each church is entitled to send one Elder and its minister to these business sessions of the Presbytery which alternates its meetings among the different churches. This Presbytery is composed of the counties from Gaston on the Southeast to Polk on the Northwest end. Prominent churchmen of the Synod of North Carolina in addition to those of the local Presbytery will attend, and services for the public will be had at 11 a. m., and at 7:30 p. m. There will also be a district meeting of the ladies of the Auxiliary in the afternoon.

WHO'S WHO

The Asheville Citizen this morning reported that a preview of the new Who's Who of America had 84 Western North Carolina people listed in it. Tryon was second to Asheville in having the largest number and even then either the Citizen or Who's Who left out a good many that should be in there. The Citizen reported the following:

George C. Aid, artist; Margaret C. Banning, author; Raymond Dodge, psychology; David L. Edsall, M. D.; Edward W. Frost, lawyer; Anne B. Greene, author; Clarence A. Lightner, lawyer; Lawrence Mazzanovich, painter; and Bishop Frank H. Touret.
