

CURB REPORTER

Custodian C. J. Lynch announced at the Tryon Kiwanis club today noon that one of the Kiwanis wheel chairs is available now for temporary invalids. The club has two chairs donated to it for use to anyone in the community needing it temporarily during their weak or crippled condition . . . . .

Young Vance McCown visited with the Kiwanians today, and Col. Arthur Smith and Nelson Jackson, Jr. In the absence of J. N. Jackson, vice-president Hoyt O. Prince gave an interesting talk on his visit to the Kiwanis district convention in Spartanburg last week . . . . Wadsworth said, "Wisdom is oftentimes nearer when we stoop than when we soar." . . . . Miss Carman's brother in Illinois clipped a picture of the Bulletin press from his hometown paper and sent it to Tryon the other day. Thanks . . . . Over 19,000 people in North Carolina have lost their driver's licenses for driving while drunk . . . . Tryon's high school football team goes to Brevard on Friday to play another strong team . . . . Fred Buchanan is always fixing up something in his store, putting in new shelves and making room for more goods . . . . George W. Comer of the Adams-Millis Corp., has bought a lot in Pickens Park and we expect to hear the hammer and saw in that neighborhood soon . . . . Roosevelt calls on voters to support the $30 ever Thursday senatorial candidate in California . . . . German Army chief quits in disagreement with Hitler . . . . U. S. Government and big business seem to be getting together. The railroads will not cut wages, Champion Paper Co., have raised theirs and many people are going to work, but look out for next spring. It doesn't take modern machinery long to build up a surplus.
