New Building For Craft School

The attractive little building being completed on the hillside opposite the Methodist church is for the Tryon Craft School where Miss Vance and Miss Yale will teach their classes in art and wood-carving. The new building will be in harmony with the design of the nearby Toy Shop sales room which has received distinguished visitors from all over the world. For the past year or more classes have been held in the attic of the Vance-Yale home where they not only have been learning to do things but have also observed the beautiful handcarved work of their teachers and talented former pupils. This work is seen in the carving on the mantels, chairs, tables, stairs, cabinets, and all through the house something inspiring to spur them on to achievement. Thanks to a kind friend who donated the building the pupils will have a better workshop and their teachers won't have to climb stairs to the attic.

Funeral Services for Crocker Infant

Funeral services for Marv Ann, six-weeks-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Crocker, who died suddenly Wednesday night, were held Thursday at 2 p. m., at Mt. Sinai Baptist church on Landrum Route One. Rev. Grady Wyatt of Chesnee, S. C., and the Pastor Rev. Tom Wood officiated. Interment was in the Landrum cemetery.

The parents survive.

Gifts to the Hospital

The Trustees of St. Luke's hospital wish to make grateful acknowledgement of the following gifts and contributions:

Mrs. Robert Lambert, an attractive slip cover for a chair in one of the private rooms; Mrs. Kilpin, $10 for the purchase of jams and jellies; Mrs. Clemsons, pillows and a mahogany lap desk; Mrs. Ferneding of Pine Crest Inn, $100 for use in relation to the clinic; Major Sharp, his own work and that of several laborers on the grounds of the Nurses' Home; Mr. Kimberly, planting and work on Nurses' Home and hospital grounds; The Hedges and Highways club of Garrison Baptist church (colored), linen bed spreads, Coverlets, bureau scarfs, napkins for use in the Colored Ward. These rooms are now as attractive as any in the hospital. The Social Service Committee of the Missionary society of Erskine Memorial church, much needed plain sewing for the hospital on the part of its members; Mr Erskine, a large framed oil painting for the waiting room, a scene, "Logging in the North Wood", painted by Charles Abel Corwin, who was the brother of C. S. Corwin, formerly a resident of Tryon, and a well known artist in his day.
