

The Unhappy Little Dog

I feel so sorry for the little
Dog across the way,
Who feels she must "express"
herself

Throughout the livelong day.
A really happy little dog
Would not "row" all day long;
For, unlike a canary, HER "expression" is not

HER expression is NOT song!
If my canary barked and snarled
At every passerby,
I'd be unhappy, surely, till
I'd found the reason why.
Especially as the "Black Tongue" takes

Within its cruel clutch
The dogs who keep their jaws
agape,

Because they bark so much!
—Hilda von Siller.
