CURB REPORTER

The busy bees, Baker, Bowen, Ballenger and Bulletin reporter have returned home and all have agreed not to tell on one another. But that promise has already been broken for they have told about the reporter wearing two vests and two pairs of socks in an effort to keep warm in that extremely cold section. It was 32 in Jacksonville area, and in St. Petersburg one man said he had to knock the ice from around the water hose before he could water the lawn that morning. It was an interesting adventure trip with no set schedule; no certain place to stop to sleep or eat. We hunted for the things different as far as we were concerned. We avoided hotels and hunted out tourist homes and looked in at tourist cabins, and shopped around a bit before finding a tourist home to suit us. It was lots of fun and we found many nice places that cost only a dollar per person. In St. Petersburg a large, modern cafeteria was serving delicious breakfasts for 9 cents. The cafeteria was a beautiful place, Spanish design with patio, balcony, palm trees, etc.—every bit as nice as Jack Dempsey's expensive place on Miami Beach. The Curb Reporter will have bits of the Florida trip from time to time as space is available in the Bulletin. No doubt it will bore some Tryonites who have

C. J. Lynch Helps Rule Columbia For Today

Chas. J. Lynch, Tryon Booster No. 1, and former members of the Columbia, S. C., board of aldermen, left this morning for the Palmetto capital where he and other former members of the board will rule the city for the day. Columbia has been ruled by a commission form of government since 1910. Last year the commissioners invited all former members of the aldermanic board to visit Columbia as guests of the city, enjoy a banquet and take charge of the government for the day. It was so successful that it was voted to make it an annual event. Accompanying Mr. Lynch to Columbia were his attorney, M. Ryan McCown; his military advisor, Col. Arthur L. Smith, and Dr. B. B. Bishop, Jr.

Inquest And Rites Held For Aged Polk Resident

Funeral services were held Sunday for Mrs. Liza Dimsdale, 78, of Mill Spring, route 3, at the Cane Creek Baptist church, with interment following in the church cemetery.

The body of the aged woman, wife of Billy Dimsdale, was found by searchers early Saturday morning after she had disappeared from her home on Friday. Apparently losing her footing on the brink of a small stream near home. Mrs. Dimsdale's body was
